Rev. Ruffing to Head New Catholic Parish

Opening Set For Sept. 4

Takes Over Newman School

Rev. Robert H. Ruffing of Holgate will be the rector of the newly - established St. Mary's Catholic parish, "Our Lady of the Snows," in the northeast section of Mansfield on Sept. 4, it has been announced by Bishop Karl J. Alter of the Toledo diocese.

Rev. Ruffing will arrive in Mansfield Sept. 2 to look over his new parish before starting his official pastorate on Sept. 4.

The new diocese, according to the decree issued by Bishop Alter, will take in the territory lying north and east of the Pennsylvania railroad, beginning at the northwest city limits and extending south and east to the Richland county limits.

"All the Catholic faithful of the Diocese of Toledo living within this territory shall from the date that this decrees goes into effect receive the canonical sacraments at the hands of their proper pastor and shall contribute to the support of the new St. Mary parish," the decree reads.

That decree will be effective on the first Sunday of September. Prior to that date, it will be read at St. Peter's Catholic church at all Sunday Masses in the month of August, according to Bishop Alter's pronouncement.

USE NEWMAN SCHOOL

The diocese has purchased the old Newman school building and it will be adapted for use both as a parish school and church. Although the parish will be established officially beginning on Sept. 4, the school will not open until the fall of 1950, Bishop Alter announced.

Decision to establish the new Catholic parish was made by Bishop Alter because of the growth of the St. Peter's Catholic parish here. St. Peter's is the second largest parish in the Toledo diocese, with a congregation numbering 5,280 persons. The new parish will take in about 1,500 of these members.

Rev. Ruffing was born in Norwalk in 1903, attended St. Paul's parochial school there and later was a student at St. Joseph's college in Collegeville, Ind. He had two years at St. Gregory Seminary, Cincinnati, and four years at the American College at Rome, Italy.

Ordained in Rome on Jan. 15, 1928, Rev. Ruffing has served successively as assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Maumee, assistant pastor at St. Mary's in Tiffin and since Nov. 12, 1937 as pastor at the St. Mary's parish in Holgate.

Rev. Ruffing has been a friend of Msgr. R. C. Goebel, rector of the St. Peter's Catholic church here, for a number of years.

"It's quite an assignment," Rev. Ruffing said today, "but I'm sure with the cooperation of everyone we will make the parish a successful one."

UEW Pickets Sent To Jail

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Thirty striking members of the CIO-United Electrical Workers union now have been sent to jail for violating a non-picketing order at the Fawick Airflex company.

Four were given maximum sentences yesterday by Common Pleas Judge Harry A. Hanna. Twenty-six others were convicted previously.

The Fawick strike began last March 17. Since that time the plant has been the scene of several violent picket - police skirmishes.

NAACP Chief Weds New York Writer

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — Walter F. White, 56, executive secretary for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said today he was married July 6 to Poppy Cannon, New York writer and advertising woman.

White said his wife is not Negro. Mrs. Cannon, 40, a divorcee, is food editor for the magazine "Mademoiselle."

White House Traveler Keeps Busy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The widely traveled man in the White House is planning to outdo himself in the next few weeks.

President Truman has scheduled four out of town speaking engagements, starting with a talk to the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Miami, Fla., Aug. 22.

He will speak next to the American Legion at Philadelphia, Aug. 29.

Then he'll do an "iron man" stunt on Labor day Sept. 5. He plans to speak at both Pittsburgh, Pa.—at noon—and in Des Moines, Iowa, late in the afternoon.

Office Plan Signatures Slashed Off

20 Per Cent Found Invalid

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The secretary of state's office said today that 20 per cent of the signatures checked to date on the Massachusetts ballot petitions are faulty.

Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeny, Ohio's chief election officer, estimated that some 88,000 signatures on the petitions filed by the ballot committee are "obviously invalid."

The sponsored petitions filed a few days ago are asking for a change in Ohio's ballot from the present party type, to ballots requiring the voter to choose by office. The purpose is to eliminate straight party voting.

"I am neutral in this," Sweeny said, "but I must see that the law is followed."

Sweeney is a Democrat The office type ballot sponsors in the main are Republicans and backers of U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft.

Sweeney's comment raised the question of whether the petitions can qualify their amendment for a vote. Needing just over 301,000 valid signatures, a 20 per cent loss would put them in danger of failure since Sweeney expressed the opinion that the number filed might not equal the number required after faulty signatures were thrown out.

Sweeney pointed out that the errors appeared to be in the manner in which the names were signed, in their legibility, and in the fact that hundreds of signers spot - checked were not registered voters.

If the committee does not have the required 301,000 names, it will have a ten day period to obtain additional signatures.

Wedding or Not, Bells Ring Out

ALTOONA, Pa — (INS) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley is hearing bells today, but they're not the wedding kind.

The vice president was presented with a miniature locomotive bell at Altoona's centennial celebration last night at which he spoke.

Tinkling it, Barkley said: "The newspapers have been filling my ears with rumors about bells, but this bell has the real ring to it."

Earlier, he had said he hasn't discussed the possibility of marriage with Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, St. Louis widow, with whom Barkley's name has been linked romantically.

Freezer Motive Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators investigating five percenters today sought a motive for the reported shipment of unasked-for home freezers to Mrs. Harry S. Truman and other Washington notables.

Chief Counsel William P. Rogers said the Senate's special investigations subcommittee has a subpoena out for Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man whose name cropped up in testimony at the inquiry. Lawmakers hoped he might shed some light on the subject.

A committee member said privately he had seen invoices showing that a freezer was sent to Mrs. Truman at Independence, Mo., and that two were shipped Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's army aide.

The senator said the invoices also list shipments to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, Federal Reserve Governor James K. Vardaman, and Presidential Secretary Matt Connelly.

The vouchers—not yet in the record—are dated 1945 and early 1946. At that time Vinson was first reconversion director and later secretary of the treasury. Vardaman was Mr. Truman's naval aide.

BARED BY GROSS

The invoices were brought to the inquiry by Albert J. Gross, a Milwaukee businessman who testified Thursday that he shipped a freezer to Vaughan and other prominent Washingtonians. He said all of the units were paid for by the Albert Verley company, the Chicago perfume firm for which John Maragon worked in 1945.

Maragon, who once had entree to the White House, is a key figure in the committe's search for influence peddlers.

Gross' testimony was cut off after he named Vaughan as a recipient of one of the freezers. Chairman Hoey (D-NC) said the committee wanted to get all the facts before putting out the rest of the names.

He added that one person listed already has told him he did not get one.

Another committee member said he was told Mrs. Truman sent a thank-you note to Gross, thinking he was the donor.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said yesterday he had "no information whatever" when he was questioned about the reports dealing with Mrs Truman and the others. Vinson had no comment. He said he preferred to have the facts come out at the senate investigation.

Quake Toll Hits 6,000

QUITO, Ecuador —(AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso says latest reports on Ecuador's Aug. 5 earthquake have boosted the estimated property damage to $67,500,000 and the number of dead to more than 6,000.

The president said it is not possible to fix the exact number of casualties, but that all calculations, including that of a U. S. relief mission, "tend to raise the (previously estimated) 4,000 figure to more than 6,000."

Maurice Reddy, assistant disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, who visited the stricken areas, said that in the town of Pelileo he witnessed "the most complete destruction I ever say in 29 years in the Red Cross."

"Not a single house or building is left standing," he said.

President Galo Plaza said that of Pelileo's 3,500 residents there were only 300 known survivors.

5% FIGURES—Currently involved in the Senate's 5% probe are the four figures shown above. Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man, was linked to the freezer gifts allegedly made to Mrs. Truman, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan and other top figures of the United States. Revealing the gifts was Albert J. Gross, Milwaukee businessman. "We never got a penny's worth of anything—not even a decent letter" from James V. Hunt, Gross told investigators after testifying he paid Hunt $1,000 in an effort to obtain sheet steel while Hunt was a $50-a-day War Assets consultant. Another witness, Clarence Oehler, St. Louis, Mo., former War Assets warehouse supervisor in Chicago, accused of transmitting confidential information to Hunt by letter, tells the committee he labeled the information "confidential" only as a buildup for a future job with Hunt.

They also will receive special training in camouflage, security and tactical movement of troops.

Seek Rabbi In Swindle

NEW YORK — (AP) — A rabbi—accused of swindling members of his congregation out of thousands of dollars by telling them the money would aid Isreal—was sought by police today.

He was identified as Solomon Eickenstein, a rabbi of Manhattan's lower east side.

The rabbi's wife, charged with being an accomplice in the purported scheme, was put under arrest last night at a hospital, where she gave birth to a baby Thursday.

A policewoman was posted at her bedside.

Police said the alleged frauds may involve up to $300,000.

A Manhattan grand jury has indicted the rabbi on charges of fraud and grand larceny, and his wife for grand larceny and acting in concert with him

Race Tops City's Air Regatta

Scores of Pilots To Stage Show

Private pilots from all over the state will go into action in Mansfield's air regatta tomorrow at Municipal airport.

Besides the Mansfield pilots who are going to fly the 180-mile course there will be visiting airmen from Toledo, Canton, Youngstown, and other Ohio cities.

There will be 12 classes of light aircraft in the race and more than 50 persons are expected to enter by race time tomorrow.

The planes will take off from the airport at 1 p. m. Sunday for the five-pylon event. The pylons are check points over several Ohio cities. The names of the check points will not be announced until briefing time at the Sky Club at 11:30 a. m.

The day's events will begin at 9 a. m. with an open house at the airport where visitors can inspect five different types of aircraft on the ground.

Sixteen of the visitors will be chosen by lot to fly with the pilots in the air parade over the city at 10 a. m.

Mansfield's own 164th Air National Guard squadron will perform one of the highlights of the day's program. The unit will provide two "aerobatic teams" to perform high over the field. Members of the teams include Capt William O. Ash, the squadron's commander, Capt. George Wilson, Capt. Howard Hoops, and Lt. Albert Owens.

TRIES FOR RECORD

The 164th will try to better its record in the "scrambled take-off," which it established at the Dover Air Force base during summer encampment In Dover the squadron sent eight planes into the air in 55 seconds The operation is practice for an operational "alert."

The squadron's Dover performance broke the record for the field. Although it is the youngest of Ohio's Air Guard squadrons, the 164th took top honors in Dover.

The classes of light craft participating in the trophy races are Aeronca, BT-13, Beech Bonanza, Bellanca, Cessna, Encoupe, Luscombe, Piper, Navion, Stinson, Swift, and Taylorcraft.

There will be a trophy for each race and the scoring woman pilot will receive a bouquet of flowers in addition to what ever trophy she may win.

Power Will Be Cut Off

Electric service will be shut off from 6 a m. to 7 30 a m. tomorrow in several areas in and near the city so line changes can be made, officials of the Ohio Public Service company announced today.

The areas which will be without electric power for the hour - and - a - half period include Cook road from Woodville road to Trimble road, Woodville road south to Hanley road, Diamond street road south to Little Washington, Pleasant Valley and Possum Run roads, and Washington township south of Hanley road.

Residents of South Boulevards will not be affected by the shut-off in the Cook road area, officials said.

Showers Drop Mercury

Mansfielders were enjoying welcome relief from the latest heat wave today as lower temperatures and cool breezes followed yesterday's heavy deluge of rain.

The weatherman said the highest reading today would be between 80 and 85 degrees, 10 degrees cooler than high marks recorded in the state earlier this week.

However, the temperature in Mansfield at 10:30 a. m. today already had reached 78, only one degree below yesterday's high of 79 at 5 p. m. Low for the 24-hour period was 69 at 6 a. m. today.

Although several Ohio cities counted damage caused by heavy thunder and electrical storms yesterday, the heavy rains in central and northern Ohio helped save the corn crop in those areas, agricultural experts said.

Mansfield's total rainfall for the 24-hour period ended at 7:30 a. m. today was recorded as 1.61 inches at Municipal airport. However, the Mansfield sewage treatment plant on Park avenue east reported two inches of rainfall from 9 a. m. until noon yesterday.

Ohio State university's agronomy department reported the rain as "making the corn crop" in central and northern Ohio areas.

A spokesman said the crop in southern Ohio already had "set" and was not seriously in need of more moisture. But in central and northern portions of the state rain was needed badly to fill setting kernels during the next two weeks, he added.

In western Massachusetts, a storm described as of cloudburst intensity forced the evacuation of several families in Chicopee. Rain was general throughout the state, ending a forest fire hazard.

In Idaho a heavy rain aided fire fighters battling a timber blaze in the Salmon river area of the Payette National forest.

U. S. Rests 'Rose' Case

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — The government rested its treason case against Tokyo Rose today, closing six arduous weeks of testimony by 46 witnesses.

Wayne Collins, attorney for the defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, on Monday will begin a rebuttal based on the contention that Mrs. D'Aquino intended her wartime broadcasts over Radio Tokyo as entertainment for allied troops rather than as a treasonable attempt to break their moral.

A special session with the jury absent was ordered for today by Judge Michael Roche. The hearing, which might give a clue to Collins' tactics, gave Collins an opportunity to argue on several motions

Prosecutor Tom DeWolfe decided to end his case after a little more than half of his total list of 71 witnesses testified. He said he was already made arrangements to fly a number of the Japanese who were not called back to Tokyo.

Profit-Wage Linking Hit

NEW YORK — (AP) — Economist Dr. Jules Backman told presidential fact - finders yesterday that it would be foolish to try to gear steelworkers' wages to fluctuating profits of the steel industry

To do so, he said, would result in a flighty up - and - down wage pattern, and damage the stability of business and employment. He said:

"Adherence to this theory would result in chaotic wage structures, reduced corporate savings, impair incentives and in turn reduce job opportunities, create high wage costs based upon temporary conditions, and cause wages to fluctuate erratically."

Wooster Man Held In City

Goods Taken At Depot Here

U. S. postal inspectors said at noon today that a 44-year-old Wooster man confessed the theft of parcel post valued at $10,000 from the Union railroad station in Mansfield

The thefts have occurred over the past year, officers said.

Federal inspectors are holding DeForrest C. Miller, Wooster, R. D. 1, in the thefts. The officers said he has been employed at the station at nights for the past two years.

Miller specialized in the theft of men's suits, women's clothing, shoes, shipments of nylon hose, radios and other merchandise, Assistant Inspector W. L. Ferrell said.

The outlets for the stolen merchandise are still under investigation. Miller will be given a preliminary hearing before the United States Commissioner at Canton. He will be taken to Cleveland today to be held in the Cuyahoga county jail until the hearing Monday.

The investigation presented an unusual aspect in that all the stolen parcel post was in transit through Mansfield and most of it was the "long haul" type, merely being transferred from one railroad to another in Mansfield.

Postal inspectors said the mail thefts were the largest ever reported in the Mansfield area.

Inspector Farrell said agents have been secretly investigating the case for the past several months.

U. S. Postal inspectors under the direction of Chief Postal Inspector C. C. Garner arrested Miller here today. The inspectors were J. P. Kinney, C. A. Maddux, and J. R. Sims, all under the supervision of Inspector in Charge J. P. Nolan, Cincinnati.

Miller had worked for the Erie railroad for about two years. Formerly he was a fireman for the Pennsylvania railroad at Crestline.

Agents Raid Jungle Inn

Slots Seized At Gambling Casino

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Five key employes seized in a raid on the gambling casino, Jungle Inn, were carted off to jail today after state liquor agents held them prisoner in the establishment for some 12 hours.

They were taken to Warren where 15 other employes were locked up shortly after the raid last night. Charges were not filed immediately.

Headed by State Liquor Director Oscar Fleckner and his enforcement chief, Anthony J. Rutkowski, 12 agents swooped down on the elaborate club in a carefully planned maneuver.

There were about 1,000 patrons in the club at the time. All were ordered to leave.

No liquor was found, but agents confiscated 100 slot machines, money and other gambling apparatus. The slot machines were reportedly worth $35,000.

A hearing was set before common pleas Judge Lynn Griffith in Warren today to determine what to do with the contraband.

The five top officials of the club were booked as Myron Elias, 38, Niles; Claude M. Hoagland, 57, Garfield Heights; Hohn Farah, 43, Cleveland; Steve Butch, 32, Youngstown and Eddie Tobin, 42, Girard.

There was no immediate explanation why they were not jailed when the other employes were arrested.

The Journal, along with other major Chicago newspapers, has been struck since Nov. 24, 1947, by the Chicago Typographical union.

Jimmy Tells Own Derbytown Story

(Editor's Note: With trial runs postponed temporarily by heavy rains yesterday in Akron, Mansfield Soap Box Derby Champion Jimmy Mitchell wrote a story about his experiences at Derbytown, home of all 148 champions. Here is the story in Jimmy's own words.)

By JIMMY MITCHELL
Mansfield Soap Box Champ

DERBYTOWN — This has been one of the finest experiences of my life.

The food is good and we can eat as much as we want. But some of the boys are overweight and can eat very little. Some only drink orange juice.

We have a lot of fun boating, horseback riding, swimming, and making model planes and boats So far I have made two small planes of plastics and plan to make a yellow Piper Cub tomorrow (Saturday).

Here at Derbytown we stay in cabins with six other boys and a counsellor. Our counsellor, Dale Tener, has made me a whistle lanyard We have double-decker bunks and each of us has a locker to keep our clothes in.

In my cabin, named after Wilbur Shaw, there are boys from Ohio, West Virginia, New Hampshire and New York. I have been running around with Sharles "Punky" Armstrong from Lima and Frank Haunsell, Manchester, N. H.

I'm the youngest boy in my cabin.

After I reached here Thursday afternoon, I went horseback riding and rowed a boat

Claims White Paper Was a Post-Mortem

Publication by the State department of a 1,054-page white paper about China has been followed by a corresponding volume of comment. While some of this has been politically partisan, a great bulk of it has been disinterestedly informative and thoughtful. Yet the present comments, and the white paper itself, are subject to a qualification of circumstances and time, which inveitably affects both the writing of them and the reading of them by the public.

After disaster has taken place, human nature tends to substitute hope for reality, and to think that maybe the disaster is not so tragic after all, that maybe something will happen or can be done to ameliorate it.

Rather better than present comment, as a true evaluation, is what was said before the disaster took place Overwhelmingly, past opinion from qualified sources which discussed the fall of China to communism as a future possibility, treated it as probably decisive in the world conflict between communism and the countries resisting it, especially the United States.

Winston Churchill, speaking last spring, after communist progress in China had reached a point where success was certain, asked and answered a question: "Are we winning the cold war? This cannot be decided by looking at Europe alone. We must also look to Asia. The worst disaster since our victory has been the collapse of China under communist attack and intrigue."

William C. Bullitt, once American ambassador to Russia, said last January: "We are at one of the turning points of human history."

Those words echoed a judgment about the place of China, in history and in the future, which was expressed fifty years ago by the then Secretary of State John Hay. He spoke of China as the "storm center of the world" and said "whoever understands that mighty empire. . . has a key to politics for the next 500 years."

Especially convincing, and grim to read now, is an opinion from a communist source. In 1945 the head of the communist party in America, William Z. Foster, appealing to American communists to prevent intervention in China by the United States said: "The war in China is the key to all problems of the international front and it is here, above all else, where we have to deal the hardest blow. . . .On the international scale, the key task. is to stop American intervention in China."

An American army officer, General Clair Channault who was head of the American Air Forces in china during the war wrote last year about the military aspect, on a world basis, of domination of China by communism and Russia: "The communist leaders. . .will not deliberately resort to open warfare until they have obtained certain strategic objectives which they consider necessary for victory. The domination of China is one of these strategical essentials necessary of attainment before they can feel safe in making war on the world. . . ."

As we turn to the future, we must see the State department white paper is what Senator Vandenberg calls a "post-mortem," dealing with the history of the fall of China. So far as it deals with causes, it will be disputed. This is inherently inevitable.

To whatever degree the white paper may have aimed to be factual and objective, the public will read it in the light of the fact that the administration which gives it out is the same adminstration that was in office when the successive steps of the tragedy took place.

Hatcher Tells Story For Ohioans

Library Gets Book On Western Reserve

THE WESTERN RESERVE, non - fiction work by Harlan Hatcher, is among the 20 new books received at the Mansfield Public library.

Hatcher, professor at Ohio State university, has written much of the Great Lakes area and Ohio.

His latest book deals with country Mansfielders know. A part of his story tells of the early colonists from Connecticut who settled the land around Norwalk, Willard and New London.

He writes with obvious relish of the survey by Gen. Moses Cleaveland in 1796; the canal days, the first railroads, the Mormon settlement and the discovery of the iron mines.

BY EASTERN WINDOWS, by William H McDougall, is a correspondent's story of two years and nine months in a Japanese prison camp. It tells of suffering, starvation, disease, death, and the courage of brave men.

The author exonerates the Japanese of outright torture but attributes most suffering to sheer neglect. The story is without bitterness and lightened by the faith that buoyed him during his imprisonment.

LEAVE IT TO THE PEOPLE is Quentin Reynolds' story of democracy's secret weapon: people During the spring and summer of 1948 he travelled in Europe and the Near East. He was present at the birth of Israel and spent considerable time in Italy, France, and Germany. His informal friendly personality gave him access to many places and people and give color and interest to the book.

Test 5,000-Year-Old Beans To Better Crops of Today

ITHACA, N. Y. — (INS) — Beans which Indians brought to New York state more than 5,000 years ago will be tested at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca this year in an effort to produce bigger and better crops for New York's present day growers.

Dr. H. M. Unger of the plant breeding department explained that the beans may have something that keeps them from being destroyed by many of the insects and diseases that plague the commercial crops.

At least 37 different varieties of beans are grown in New York by the Six Nations, said Dr Erl Bates, noted Indian authority, on the Cornell staff. He explained

"Most of them are used primarily for ceremonial purposes, and none of them resemble our white commercial. There are beans for weddings, death feasts and similar rituals."

The eight or nine varieties that will be tested by the plant breeding department are the oldest ones known, according to members of the Iroquois nations.

"They use them in their ancient rituals," said Dr Bates, "and call them their 'ancient' beans."

He indicated they were probably brought here from the West or Southwest.

The beans are the gift of Mirima Krouse Lee of the Allegany Reservation, where her family has been farming for generations.

"Subsequent testing and crossing will show whether the Indians who have contributed so much to our way of live, have still something else to offer," said Bates.

Turns $10 To Fortune

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — A 66-year-old Chinese who came to San Francisco 49 years ago with $10 in his pockets has run his worldly fortune into several millions by building a herbal empire, buying real estate and selling spicy night club entertainment.

He is fabulous Fong Wan, known mainly as the "king of the herbalists in North America." He acquired his title by treating thousands who claimed to suffer from almost every ailment known to man.

More orthodox practitioners scoffed at Fong's methods as being based on superstitious folk lore. In 1940 at federal trade commission hearings, his theories were attacked and his advertising branded false and misleading.

A year later the commission decided Fong's methods were of "historical interest only, with no acceptability in the scientific sense." He was ordered to cease advertising. Fong was not stopped, however. The astute oriental bought pages of advertising space in newspapers, inserted testimony from the hearings, which was largely pro-Fong

Although his main business has been herbs, Fong is making thousands in real estate and income from two hotels he owns in San Francisco, plus restaurants and night clubs.

Turkey Needs More Aid For Democracy

BEYNEM, Turkey—The little old lady, dressed in old, pre-Ataturk Turkish garb, brought with her an old-fashioned lantern, the better to see her first motion picture. She squatted beside us and unashamedly held up the light to examine us Americans, another phenomenon she was seeing for the first time in her 70 or more years of life.

Fortunately she appeared to approve as she soon began to slap my knee lustily as she cackled merrily at her own conversation in Turkish, not one word of which we understood.

Soon a bevy of children, lovely despite skins which showed vitamin deficiencies, clustered about us in friendly comradeship. With simple curiosity they touched our clothing and shoes and jabbered excitedly among themselves about the materials they were seeing for the first time.

One brown-eyed girl of eight put her head on my shoulder to nap, but only momentarily as she wanted to miss no minute of the exciting new miracle on the screen.

Beynem is 43 kilometers from Ankara, the capital of Turkey. But despite the incredible modernization of Turkey during the past twenty-five years, Beynem is centuries removed from Ankara except for a new stone school.

It was because of this that the arrival of the shiny new mobile moving picture truck in Beynem brought out the entire village population from babies strapped to their mothers' backs to the most venerable of the community's patriarchs.

So absorbed were they in the movies, angry cries and tiny apricots pelted any who were indiscreet enough to stand up.

Four documentaries were shown. Three of them told the story of agricultural methods in the United States while the fourth depicted a bus tour of the U S. We Americans wished the pictures had been better done, more imaginatively conceived and with less trick photography.

NOT PROPAGANDA

But even the pictures we saw here are excellent propaganda — because they aren't propaganda. Each of them tells with pictorial simplicity the facts about a phase of American activity. There was no flag-waving or horn-blowing in the commentary — only quiet factual statements of how this or that is done in the U. S.

Much of the Russian propaganda which Moscow radio pours into Turkish receiving sets four times a day claims virtually every invention and discovery of the past five centuries The American material in this psychological war relies on restraint and understatement, perhaps too much so.

It might be disastrous if penny-pinching Congressmen riding the donkey of "economy" with an eye to the 1950 elections restricted or failed to expand this battle of facts.

Our visit to Turkey has been refreshing and unique in contrast to the European capitals visited on the 'Round the World Town Meeting. In London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and home was heard continuously the chant, "If America doesn't continue supplying us assistance, we may go communist."

Here they make no bones about wanting and needing American aid. But President Ismet Inonu voiced what almost every other Turk we talked to said when he told us, "Tell the people of America we are trying to make the transition from state control to greater democracy. Tell them what we are trying to do to build a new Turkey. Tell them we stand ready to die, if necessary to defend our country. And tell them we will continue to need their help."

Science Now Aiding National Forests

By H. D. CRAWFORD

Washington — Will you be among the 27,000,000 Americans expected to seek recreation this year in our 152 national forests Twice this number will just drive in to get a glimpse of natural scenery or the "feel" of a real forest.

Some will camp or picnic in the 4,500 areas provided. Others will swim or lie in the sun at hundreds of national forest swimming holes or beaches. Still others will hike on the numerous trails, ride horseback, or participate in some of the 230 areas set aside for winter sports. Many will fish and hunt.

Numerous groups will use the 400 organization camps provided with dormitories and mess halls. Sometimes underprivileged children are sent to these and discover the health-giving benefits of contact with nature Boy and Girl Scouts, and other civic groups have made increasing use of these camps in national forests.

About the only primitive wilderness still to be found in America is in the wild and roadless regions set aside for preservation in some of our national forests. The 14,000,000 acres within these 77 areas make a combined region larger than Vermont and New Hampshire.

You will have to look a long time to find better uses for public tax money than that expended for the scientific management of our national forests.

Forests provide wood products for innumerable uses. Some 80,000,000 acres of grazing land on forest properties provide forage for millions of sheep and cattle. Forests are "home" for great numbers of wild animals and birds.

Forests protect watersheds and help control the water supply for our rivers, farm land and power sites.

Ruthless lumbering practices during the first centuries of developing this continent have reduced our forests to a mere shadow of the long stretches of wilderness which thrilled the first white men who explored our rivers and climbed our hills.

National forests, however, promise to save great quantities of forests for permanent use. The United States Forest Service operates the national forests on a sustained - yield and multiple - use basis.

"Sustained yield" means that timber is cut in a manner to assure continuous production of young trees growing toward the harvesting age Nearly four billion board feet of lumber were cut from national forests last year. Foresters believe a sustained output of six billion board feet or more can be maintained eventually.

Timber sales last year accounted for $20,594,286 of the $24,956,254 receipts from the national forests. Grazing returned $2,898,315 to the Treasury. Water power and special land uses within national forests brought in $743,830 more

While this does not equal the $31,976,677 expended for national forest operation, management and protection, it goes a long way toward making the forests pay their way.

"Multiple - use" management means that national forests are operated so that the public gets maximum use of all forest resources: timber, grazing, watershed, recreation spots, mineral deposits, scenic views and others.

Forest fires are a major factor in depleting forests Most of these are man - caused, in this order: smokers, incendiary, campfires, miscellaneous, railroads and lumbering operations. Lightning causes the rest.

Total fires and the acreage burned during the first half of 1949 were lower than last year and considerably under the five-year average. Nevertheless, flames raged over 16,556,780 acres in 1948, and over another 1,000,000 acres in Canada.

Lightning bolts in northern California a few days ago were reported to have set 182 forest fires, 132 of them in national forests.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—and be on the lookout for "crazy drivers."

It is noted that President Truman "just laughed" when asked a question about ex-President Hoover's speech—which evidences a peculiar sense of humor.

Not that it is to be expected soon, but an interesting suggestion is that the government might consider the matter of air-conditioning everybody's home—as a further step toward equality.

'Strike Vote' Has Usual Result

EXCEPT as a legal requirement, it may be wondered why an expensively conducted "strike vote" is considered necessary in such cases as that of Ford workers in Michigan early this week, in which the outcome was 7 to 1 in favor of authorizing a strike.

It seems that under such circumstances as exist in the motor car industry, with Ford as the first point of attack, it would be just as well to assume majority approval of a strike, as a phase of union technique, and to proceed from there rather than going through the formality of casting and tabulating votes—at the expense of taxpayers.

It was explained that "authorization" of a strike does not necessarily mean that there will be a strike of Ford workers, and that negotiations will continue, but the gulf between union demands and company contentions is too broad to be easily bridged.

The union, for instance, is not only asking further wage increases but also adoption of $100 a month pension plan and a medical care program, while the company holds that present high wages should be frozen for a year, as a means of giving best assurance of providing the largest number of steady jobs to employes.

Included in the company's statement is the thought-provoking sentence: "We believe that raising costs at this time would increase prices, reduce volume of business and result in layoffs for large numbers of workers."

Outcome of the Ford controversy contains broader implications, through recognition that the pattern thus established will affect the entire motor industry and will play an important part in determining whether or not the present inflationary era can be eased off gradually or ended only by an actual depression—such as was being rapidly moved toward just 20 years ago this month.

Fewer Victims of Tuberculosis

PROGRESS toward completion and use of Richland county's new tuberculosis sanatorium localizes interest in a provisional report by the National Tuberculosis association that this disease caused 11 per cent fewer deaths in the United States last year than in 1947—a decline attributed largely to early disclosure and treatment of persons who might otherwise reach an incurable stage.

It is pointed out that more new cases were reported in 1948 than in the year before, but that this increase was due in large part to greater use of chest X-rays which detect the disease, although the association warns there may be 250,000 active cases unknown to health authorities.

Due to preventive measures, and early detection, tuberculosis has fallen from second to seventh place among principal causes of death, and it is gratifying to know that Mansfield and Richland county soon will be better equipped to combat tuberculosis than heretofore.

When the Lights Go Out

YESTERDAY'S brief suspension of electric current in a part of down-town Mansfield gave convincing proof of public dependence on various conveniences which have become a part of modern living.

Electric service, water supply, telephone communication, public transportation, and the like, are things that are taken for granted, and without which—or any one of them—community and individual activities would quickly be stymied.

Yesterday's happening was accidental, and quick action was taken to restore service, but the thought occurs that some other cities have had similar experiences, brought about intentionally by strikes, and the point needs no emphasis that ways should be quickly found to settle employe-employer differences without interruption of any essential public service.

Object To Frequent Solicitations

CHARITIES and other good causes raising money may have to change their methods, or at least their timing. In Cleveland the number of such campaigns has been steadily increasing. Not only has this meant several appeals to the benevolent giver, but it has drawn off, several times a year, the same solicitors from their regular work. Unless these conditions are remedied, needy institutions may face a contributors' revolt.

One outcome, according to Randall M. Ruhlman, solicitations director of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, will be a refusal on the part of business houses and industrial plants to permit more than one solicitation a year for their employes. This is not quite the same thing as a Community Chest, where all institutions pool their requests and only one gift is required from a donor, but it is similar.

Certainly the number of separate drives for funds should be sharply reduced. Institutions standing out from this reasonable position are doing questionable good to themselves and the whole philanthropic structure.

Claude Cahan observes: "You can always tell when times are good. People will not go to church then unless there is some special attraction—something in addition to the promise of eternal salvation."

Surprised at first by an item to the effect that "in Alaska it is illegal to give whisky to a moose," it was almost immediately noticed that the word started with a small "m".

What Some Other People Are Saying

Seems Like Some Traps Are Needed.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

California Troubled By Water Shortage

LOS ANGELES — As a traveler moves south from Washington and Oregon to Southern California, he finds that water is the major concern in both regions. But with a major difference.

The Northwest is concerned about what to do with water. In the great inland and coastal area of Southern California, the concern is what to do for water.

It is too early to suggest the presence of a crisis, but it takes very little looking ahead to see that the flood of human immigration will overwhelm the available supply of water.

The problem, as the wise and experienced Governor Warren puts it, is not a single-sided one. It breaks up into many local shortages, each with its special relationship to one of many varying sources of supply.

To take a special case, the city of Santa Barbara and adjoining coastal areas have been dependent for years upon a storage dam in the nearby mountains, with a supplementary supply from big artesian wells.

* * *

Reward of Foresight.

TWO dry winters have depleted the supply behind the dam, and there is danger that the water in the wells will sink to a level where salt will destroy its usefulness.

Meanwhile, unprecedented numbers of people have been moving in since the war. A new dam is projected, but the opposition of a rancher or two in the valley has temporarily prevented favorable action in combress.

The situation in the inland valleys is generally made serious because the multiplication of wells has lowered the supply, and the inevitable salt is appearing.

The Los Angeles region seems less disturbed. Years ago, there was sufficient vision to build the great Owens Valley project, and when Boulder Dam was built, a new supply was acquired. But in a city which is pressing into second place in the nation, there is need for more Colorado river water.

To tap that supply further or even to get whatever contractual obligations which seem to have been guaranteed, a fight is developing with the state of Arizona.

That once arid state wants more water for a big agricultural development of its own. The dispute seems, so far, to baffle all efforts at compromise. It may end in the Supreme Court.

Nature has provided along the coast of California a place of singular attractiveness. But Nature has not provided, between the San Francisco Bay and the border of Mexico, a single river which flows without interruption for 12 months of the year.

And despite heroic engineering feats, the population rises while the water level falls. You hear a lot out here about the maldistribution of wealth. But the real issue is the maldistribution of moisture.

Frankly Speaking

Minimum Wage Juggling

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Now it's up to the Senate to do something about changing the minimum wage law.

The House has passed a bill to do that. But, unless the Senate also approves before going home, there'll be no change.

There's growing belief here the Senate will act. If it does, it probably will pass a bill different from that of the House.

That means both Houses would have to compromise on a single bill, different from that of the House, before the law is changed.

Some explanation for that — and of the changes proposed by the House-passed bill — will be given here. But, first, background.

The minimum wage law was passed by Congress in 1938. Briefly, it said:

People engaged in businesses which had commerce across state lines were covered by the law. (Some kinds of businesses were specifically exempted from the law's coverage.)

This meant that the "covered" people had to be paid no less than 23 cents an hour until 1939, no less than 30 cents an hour until 1945, and 40 cents an hour after 1945.

That 40 cents an hour is now the minimum wage than can be paid workers "covered" by the law.

But living costs have risen so much since 1945 that 40 cents an hour has become a very low hourly wage.

There has been increasing pressure upon Congress from many directions, particularly from President Truman, to do two things:

1. Raise the minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75.

2. Bring under the protection of the law many people not now covered by it.

The House-passed bill would raise the minimum to 75 cents an hour.

* * *

Who Are Included

THE BILL ready for action in the Senate also would raise the minimum to 75 cents an hour. (At this moment about 22,600,000 workers are covered by the law. But, of that number, only about 1,500,000 make less than 75 cents an hour. So only a little more than 6 per cent would benefit by the increase.)

The Senate bill wouldn't change the coverage of the present law by bringing any more people under its protection.

But—the House-passed bill, instead of bringing a larger number under coverage, would actually take coverage away from about 1,000,000 people who now have it.

The Senate bill would make only tiny changes in the law itself, but the House-passed bill would make a number of important changes.

If this House-passed bill ever became law it probably would mean suits in the Supreme Court—which might take years—to explain precisely what some of the language in the bill means.

Officials of the wage-hour administration, which carries out the law for the government, are themselves puzzled as to what some parts of the House bill meant.

Since they are puzzled, it's probable that a lot of House members who voted for the bill didn't know exactly what they were voting for. For example:

The present law covers those workers considered "necessary" for the production of goods in a plant (goods moving in interstate commerce), besides the workers doing the actual production there.

Example: Window washers and night watchmen are now considered as "necessary" by the government if the work in a plant is covered by the law.

But the House bill would change that so only "indispensable" workers were covered. So an employer might argue, if the House bill became law, that window washers and night watchmen are not "indispensable."

Sooner or later this would have to be fought out in the courts to decide what "indispensable" means.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Congress Speeding Up Foreign Aid Bills

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Congress, after weeks of deliberation and lengthy committee hearings, got into legislative high gear. The Senate, with its tradition of unlimited debate, had bogged down further than the House. Sen. Scott Lucas, leader of the Senate Democratic policy committee, said so much work awaits Senate action no date for adjournment could be set. Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn), another member of the committee, said he hopes "getaway day may be October 1."

House members were hoping to work out an arrangement that will let them go home next week while the Senate plods through its heavy schedule.

A joint Senate-House committee came to agreement last week on two slightly different versions of the multi-billion dollar foreign recovery program. Earlier in the week the Senate passed by a 63 to 7 vote a $5,797,724,000 appropriation bill to finance European recovery and other foreign aid programs for the next 12 months.

Despite all debate, the Senate bill did not differ greatly from the House - approved measure. The Senate cut funds about 10 per cent.

The Senate turned thumbs down on an amendment which would have shut off funds to Great Britain and other Marshall Plan nations if they continued nationalizing their basic industries.

Arms-Aid Debate.

In debate over arms-aid, the administration agreed with a GOP proposal that cost of the $1,450,000,000 program be spread over a longer period to make it easier to obtain approval at this session of Congress.

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich), a leading supporter of the bi-partisan foreign policy, proposed that the $1,160,000,000 of cash which Mr. Truman has asked to arm western European allies be cut in half, and that the government be authorized to enter into contracts covering the remainder.

Congress would have to appropriate money to pay such contracts eventually, but not at this session.

At Home

Progress For Peace.

Franklin D. Roosevelt once remarked that it might take five more years to win the peace.

In Bergen, Norway, Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, said last week he hoped that in five more years war might become old-fachioned.

Back in Lake Success, Lie's fourth annual U. N. report hailed the past 12 months as a year of progress toward a more peaceful world. The 159-page report to the 59 member nations was the most optimistic yet issued by the secretary-general.

In it he declared the fear of war definitely has decreased despite continuing big power differences.

Marriage Statistics.

There are about 35,500,000 American husbands, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., which has compiled statistics on this marital class which is now the highest in the nation's history.

The typical American husband maintains a household. But due to the housing shortage, about 2,500,000 now are forced to live with relatives or in other temporary quarters.

In 1948, all but three per cent were living with their wives. This includes men with jobs away from home, or temporarily absent for reasons other than marital troubles.

American husbands are relatively young. Nearly one - third are under 35. About one - fourth are over 55, and 90 per cent of these have been married 15 years or more.

Elder Statesman Speaks.

Herbert Clark Hoover is this country's only living ex-President.

Last week in Palo Alto, Calif., this elder statesman expounded his philosophy of living at Stanford University ceremonies marking his 75th birthday. They add up to a sober warning that government spending is taking this country down the road to collectivism.

Hoover recently completed two years of work as head of a commission studying economy in federal government. Recommendations of the Hoover Commission on how to save four billion dollars a year now are pending in Congress. A rugged conservative, Hoover does not like new federal and state plans for spending taxes.

* * *

Lead a Busy Life.

The fashion in grandmothers has changed radically within the past generation, notes Professor Ernest W. Burgess, University of Chicago sociologist.

"The day has gone forever," he says, "when grandmothers accepted a status as old and went to church on Sundays in black dresses and black silk bonnets."

Older people are frustrated to a greater extent than younger persons, he says. As a person becomes older he loses by death his spouse and his friends. Many older persons feel pushed aside. Lonesomeness is especially prevalent.

Professor Burgess says the basic yearnings of aged persons are much the same as their juniors' — primarily for economic, emotional and spiritual security. He recommends activities and varied interests cultivated in middle age as the best insurance against loneliness in later life.

Abroad

Destructive Nature.

When Nature goes on a rampage civilization learns its impotence. Flood, fire, drought, earthquake or storm all can wipe out in a moment the work of many men for many years. For centuries scientists have probed into some of these phenomena but nature's awesome power is still largely unpredictable and uncontrolled.

History is studded with instances: Pompeii, Krakatowa, San Francisco, to mention a few. Last week added two more to the list.

In Ecuador, 100,000 were made homeless by an earthquake that razed 50 cities and villages, killed from 2,000 to 6,000 and did damage in excess of 20 million dollars.

Fear and panic gripped survivors as repeated shocks and strange underground rumblings continued.

Reds Get Blue Ribbons.

The Fourth International Film Festival ended in discord last week in Marienbad, Czechoslovakia.

It was no surprise that Russia walked away with most of the major prizes in the only 1949 east-west film competition. The prizes were awarded by an all-Czech jury. During the two-week exhibition the controlled Czech press praised Soviet films and acidly criticized the products of Hollywood.

Although the Russians walked off with the honors, the crowds flocked to see American films. Scalpers reaped a rich harvest peddling tickets for such entries as "Johnny Belinda" and "Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

Twenty nations competed in the festival with 32 feature films and 59 shorts.

Quotes

Washington Calling

Could Bombs Win War?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

VARIOUS and sundry investigations are beginning to take the headlines from the waning session of Congress. One result is to divert attention from the lapses and failures, the stalemate and the plain and simple balkiness of what can hardly be considered a distinguished performance.

One of the investigations is concerned with the conduct of several picturesque figures in and around the White House. They are alleged to have used their influence to get profitable contracts for friends.

This makes for diverting reading, since it is always exciting to start a fox — and especially a highly colored fox that talks back — with the chase in full view. If these characters are guilty, they should be punished.

But there is another investigation that can produce something more than a brief sensation. That is the investigation ordered by the House into the B-36 bomber and the policy of the air force in concentrating so much of the air budget on this long-range bomber.

Here, too, sensational charges involving contracts and alleged collusion are involved. There is, however, another phase of the inquiry that is infinitely more important even if all the sensational rumors should be proved true. Or it could be more important if the investigating committee has the courage and the objectivity to go into it.

That is to try to appraise the role of strategic bombing — the obliteration of the enemy's cities. This is down on the committee's schedule. Chairman Carl Vinson of the House armed services committee says that the investigation will definitely cover the point.

But high - ranking Navy officers have heard the disquieting report that the issue of strategic bombing and its potentialities will be glossed over. They are fearful that some kind of deal has been made so that the public will not get anything like a true picture, correcting what Navy men believe is a deliberate and relentless propaganda campaign in behalf of a blitz, 30 - day victory in a painless war.

* * *

What Would It Gain?

THIS becomes all the more important since Gen. Omar N. Bradley has confirmed what has been widely known — that America's role at the outset of a war would be to drop the atomic bomb on the enemy's cities. Air force planners have talked about 70 strategic targets to be obliterated in Soviet Russia, thereby paralyzing the enemy at the outset of a war.

Such an attack would destroy several million civilians. Whether it would win a war is an open question. Whether it would win the peace is still another question which almost no one seems to consider.

A Navy airman, Admiral Daniel V. Gallery, had the courage to raise some of these points the other day. It took courage, in view of the stern orders to keep away from controversy, to speak as frankly as he did in the Saturday Evening Post. Gallery wrote:

"Wholesale destruction of the populated areas of an enemy country is a poor way to promote lasting peace. It merely sows the seeds of hate for another war. All over Europe we are discovering to our sorrow now the penalties which the victor pays in the post - war peace for indiscriminate destruction. A large part of the billions now being spent in the European recovery program can be charged to this account."

Gallery quoted passages from the summary report of the United States strategic bombing survey to show that even though German cities were plastered with bombs and hundreds of thousands of civilians killed, military production went right on. In some instances it even increased, after the heaviest raids.

According to the bombing survey, more than 2,500,000 tons of bombs were dropped on Germany. Yet an invasion by ground forces finally conquered Hitler's armies. And Germany, as compared to Russia, is a small, compact country.

Bouncing Pedestrians.

The day may come when pedestrians will bounce off bumpers like rubber balls. What a day that will be for traffic safety!

A new shock-absorbing putty is the answer. This substance has been used to encase cameras and other delicate instruments shot into the air in guided missiles. They fall to earth and are recovered undamaged, thanks to the puty.

When putty suits are made pedestrians can cross streets anywhere with little risk. Motorists will have fewer worries and gray hairs. Mothers will just zip little children into putty suits and start them off to school, with complete assurance that they'll bounce if they fail to heed traffic regulations.

This acme of traffic safety is in the distant future however. Until the day of putty suits arrives, we'll still have to be careful.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Men Really Fall For Pretty Gale; She's a Judo, Jujitsu Instructor

NEW YORK—Men fall head over heels for hazel-eyed Gale Vance. She really throws them.

One reason they find this attractive blonde so irresistible is that she teaches jujitsu and judo. Miss Vance is one of the few lady instructors in these bone-bending pastimes."

"Jujitsu is really just a sport," she said. "But judo is the science of dirty fighting—you use it when you're out for the kill.

"I like to teach dirty fighting. It's the quickest way of disposing of your opponent."

Some feminine athletes are built like telephone booths. This isn't true of Gale. Her muscles are well disposed. They never bulge. They ripple. Her physical charm as well as her physical strength have won her several offers to become a professional wrestler.

"I turned them down," she said. "It is too undignified."

During the war Gale was a member of a judo team that toured army camps and demonstrated deadly tricks to the troops. I saw her in Manila in 1945, and her 225 - pound partner was wearing a broken wrist.

"I guess I put on a little too much pressure," said Gale, "but he should have told me I was hurting him."

Miss Vance at present is teaching jujitsu to vacationers at Ma Holder's Youngs Gap hotel, a resort in the Catskills.

"Many wives are eager to learn the holds," she said. "They want to be able to throw their husbands over their heads. But I teach them to throw a person over their hips instead. It's much easier."

Jugitsu, incidentally, has a number of advantages for the forlorn female living in a man's world.

"It is a wonderful way to reduce," said Gale, "and a girl needs to learn only a few holds to be able to deal with mashers and muggers."

What is the best way for a lady to cope with an annoying subway wolf?

"If you want to discourage him quietly without making a scene," said Gale, "one way is to put your heel on his shinbone and press down — hard.

"An elbow is a very handy article. You just give him the sharp end of it in his face. If he's a tall guy and you can't reach his face, jab the elbow fast into his solar pluxus or his ribs. You'd be surprised how easy a rib breaks. Of course the knee is always good, too, but you have to be in the right position to use it.

"Generally I try to teach the girls how to get away from a man — rather than to kill the guy."

Once Miss Vance was bothered herself by a Broadway masher. She finally turned on him and said modestly, "I teach jujitsu." The man took the hint and went mashing elsewhere.

Another time she was walking alone at night to her home in the Bronx when a scalawag sprang out and grabbed at her purse.

"I clamped on a wrist lock, kicked his feet out from under him and walked on," she said. "I felt like kicking him while he was down, but I didn't want to take an unfair advantage. I didn't bother to see if he was hurt. He didn't deserve to be looked at."

She gets some unusual pupils. Recently a gentle old white - haired lady came to her.

"My son won't do what I tell him anymore," she said. "I want to learn some kind of a trick so I can hold him still while I give him a good spanking".

"How old is your boy?" asked Gale.

"He's 45," said the old lady, "but he still needs spanking."

Some Prefer Low Life On the Bowery, Others Driven There

On the Bowery, an anachronism in a modern metropolis . . . Shabby, shameful haven of sodden, blowsy bums in dirty slums, derelicts amid the dregs of the great city. . . . Outlaws, victims, individualists, weaklings.

From all races, a race apart . . . Not all are degraded drunkards and panhandlers . . Some seek the existence because, like swine, they must wallow . . . Others have no alternative—destitute, vagrant vagabonds, they drift with the dregs toward the last heart beat on a flop-house plank or in a doorway, and then Potter's Field.

Few use their right names, and when they pass on they are unmourned, they die unknown . . . No more cruel is the word of respectable men to these outcasts than they are to each other.

The police despise them, the public and private relief agents are fed up with them, their economic superiors shy away from them . . . They mooch sandwiches from kindly organizations of sympathetic people who hand them sustenance in bags, at arm's length; who fear contamination from the objects of their charity.

Magistrates don't bother to send them up for drunk and disorderly — just shake their heads and wave them back . . . To the Bowery . . . That one - time lane of the mansions of the mighty, now the dark, crooked thoroughfare of barrel - houses, hockshops and the surviving "El" line.

The social swamp where a half-century or so ago lurid vice reigned, murder shrieked aloud, champagne mixed with beer and gin — and blood — in the sewers below.

The Bowery, where thrifty Dutch farmers led their kine and laid the path along which now the palsied parasites shuffle and stagger . . . Where they do such things and they say such things . . . On the Bowery!

Robert K. Straus, scion of the family that owns Macy's, but who went into publishing and public service instead of department store activities, is frontrunner for the Democratic nomination to oppose Vito Marcantonio for congressman.

Newbold Morris, Republican-Liberal candidate for mayor, is organizing a "Disgruntled Democrats" party, for another line on the machines. If he could corral the disgruntled Republicans, he'd do better.

Them as possesses acquires — Bob Hope and Bing Crosby tied up a few thousand acres of oil-speculation land in Texas. They drilled and brought up enough salt water to make all the taffy in Atlantic City. They laughed and dug some more.

So, this week, they hit a gusher that spouted and spewed like Henry Wallace canonizing a Communist. Millionaire Hope got the news first. He called up millionaire Crosby. His opening line was: "Congratulations, Bing — you are now a millionaire!"

Gypsies Stalled By City Court

Driver Goes To Jail For 10 Days

Two carloads of Mexican Gypsies drove into Mansfield yesterday, and they'll probably stay awhile.

The driver of one car was involved in an accident with a truck at East Fourth street and Ashland road, which put his car out of commission.

The driver of the other car has 10 days to serve in the county jail for threatening a street department worker, Russell Stuckey, in a menacing manner.

The driver of the wrecked car, Mick Toney, was fined $5 and costs in Municipal court today after pleading guilty to failure to yield the right-of-way.

His step-son, Robert Martin, was fined $10 and costs for crossing a freshly-painted line in the street and sent to jail when he was convicted of threatening Stuckey with a knife when the city worker protested his driving over the line. Martin also knocked over 10 street department flags.

Twelve other persons were charged in municipal court this morning with traffic violations and one other with threatening in a menacing manner.

Kenneth Wetz, Shelby, charged George Schiffer, 19, Shelby, with threatening him with a knife after a minor accident yesterday on the outskirts of Shelby. Schiffer pleaded guilty to the threatening charge but denied he had a knife. He was fined $15 and costs and was given a 10-day suspended jail sentence by Acting Judge James V. Will.

Four persons charged with speeding forfeited $25 bonds each. They were Raymond E. Seaman, Johnstown, Pa.; August W. Scheppke, Syracuse, N. Y.; Lewis D. Jenkins, Lorain, and Larry Bernstein, Euclid.

Richard K. Carmen, 242 Millsboro road, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to having insufficient brakes. Meta C. Rarick, Bucyrus, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs for crossing the yellow line.

The assault and battery case against Tim Mullins, 92 East First street, was continued until Wednesday.

3,000 Throng Park For Melon Festival

An estimated crowd of 3,000 Mansfielders made quick work of nearly 300 watermelons last night at Johns park.

It was the park association's annual watermelon festival. The weather was ideal, following yesterday's heavy showers which threatened to postpone the picnic.

Besides the watermelon, there were 90 pounds of hamburger and wieners and 95 dozen buns to put them in, gallons of baked beans and potato salad and about 160 cakes.

On the side were items that particularly interested the children. These included ice cream, candy, popcorn and hundreds of bottles of cold pop to wash down the extras.

While spectators ate their fill, the Mansfield Tyger band played spirited music. J. Merton Holcombe directed.

Officials of the park association agreed after the "show" that it was one of the most successful festivals ever held at the park.

Dairymen Draw Up Campaign

Seek $100,000 'War Fund'

Richland county dairy farmers last night joined a state - wide $100,000 campaign to fight the colored oleo proposal and to organize sentiment favorable to the dairy industry.

The state-wide fight calls for raising the $100,000 by contributions of 25 cents per cow from each farmer and money received through auctions of heifers, donated by farmers.

The money raised in that way will be matched dollar for dollar by dairy dealers, distributors and manufacturers.

The state-wide campaign has been undertaken by the Dairy Welfare committee at Columbus.

Election boards throughout the state are checking petitions calling for a vote in November on the question of permitting the sale of colored oleo in Ohio.

If sufficient valid signatures are found, voters will ballot on the question in November.

The meeting last night was presided over by Stanley Huston, Shiloh, president of the Richland County Dairy Service unit. Several dairymen in Richland county have indicated their desire to provide heifers for the sales, said Richard Darling, a board member. The meeting for board members was held at the courthouse.

The oleo issue was one of the questions brought before the meeting, County Agent C. N. McGrew said.

Members agreed to work with the Grange and Farm Bureau groups to make contacts for action against the colored oleo proposal.

The board voted at the same time to do all it could toward getting the 25-cent contributions and donation of heifers for the sales. The sales will be handled by the two artificial breeders cooperatives.

The Northern Ohio group will hold its sale at Tiffin Sept. 26. The Central Ohio group will hold its sale at Columbus Sept. 24.

The Dairy Promotion program of the Dairy Welfare committee has three goals in mind, spokesmen said. They are:

1. To sell more milk and milk foods.

2. Convince consumers of the producer's importance in the production of food, soil building, soil conservation and economic stability.

3. Organize the vote favorable to the dairy industry.

The campaign will include newspaper advertising, pamphlets and speaking bureaus.

Blame Driver In Bus Crash

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — (AP) — The Monroe county coroner reported yesterday that failure of the driver to make proper allowance to clear a bridge abutment caused Wednesday's crash of a Greyhound bus which took the lives of 16 passengers.

Dr. Robert E. Lyons said he had reached that conclusion "subject to further investigation," but added that in view of conflicting statements of witnesses he believed the grand jury should investigate.

The official added that after talking with several passengers he believed there was no mechanical failure and no blowout of a tire. Eleven passengers and Wayne L. Cranmer, 25, of Indianapolis, the driver, survived the accident.

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — Western Germans will decide tomorrow whether a one-armed, one - legged victim of Hitler's torture chambers or a scholarly, aloof lawyer will be the most powerful figure in the new German federal republic.

The Western Germans will elect their first central government since Hitler. It will be their first free election on a national scale in 17 years.

The election will set up a new European state uniting the American, British and French occupation zones with a population of more than 45,000,000 Germans west of the Elbe.

And it will make one of these two men the biggest figure in the new republic:

Dr. Kurt Schumacher, 54 - year - old leader of the Social Democratic party. The Social Democrats are left - wing socialists.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, 73 - year - old head of the Christian Democratic union. This is a conservative party favoring private enterprise.

Schumacher, the socialist leader, lost a leg in the first world war. He languished in nazi concentration camps for 11 years. Nazi torturers mangled one of his arms. He later lost it. But he has lost none of his fiery, crusading spirit.

Adenauer is a politician with a professor's mannerisms. His high cheek bones and sphinx-like expression make him resemble a proud American Indian chief. He, too, was tossed behind bars by the nazis — on three occasions.

Both Adenauer and Schumacher are mentioned as possible choices for the first president of the fledgling republic. The president will be named after the election by the Bundestage (lower house of parliament) and the 11 West German states. But their power flows from their positions of leadership in Western Germany's two big parties.

Schumacher and Adenauer are among some 1,000 candidates vying for 400 seats in the Bundestag. The party controlling the Bundestag will name the chancellor (prime minister). It will determine government policy, as the ruling party does in Britain's House of Commons.

And the man who controls the dominant party will be the key figure in German public life.

Legislator Thinks Fur Trade Is Skin Game—Both Ways!

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The way Rep. Joseph Patrick O'Hara, R., Minn., looks at it the fur business is a skin game in more ways than one.

The hefty, balding gent from the hard north country agrees that most fur dealers are honest, but "a lot of them aren't."

O'Hara expects the 81st Congress to do something about it by passing a bill he was introduced. It is designed to protect consumers against mis-branding, false advertising, and false invoicing of fur products and furs. The measure already has passed the House and now is before a Senate committee.

The congressman got worked up on the fur question some years ago when he and his missus decided to buy a fur coat. He bought a good one and paid a fancy price for it.

"If we hadn't shopped around," he said, "we might have bought one of the 150 trade names that mean nothing more than rabbit. Most times the public is none the wiser."

During House discussion on the bill Rep. E. E. Cox, D., Ga., sided with the gentleman from Minnesota. Cox said he once put out hard cash for some patched up bunny pelts pawned off as "genuine ermine."

"I paid ermine prices, too," Cox said.

"Unfortunately," O'Hara said during an interview, "furs are susceptible to dying and processing. The fur people do a good job and it's a credit to the industry. But they can dye rabbit pelts that look like more expensive furs. Our quarrel is with the manner of advertising and labeling."

Take "beaverette," he said. "There is no such animal. The woman who buys it thinks she is getting a kin to the beaver, but what is it? Dyed rabbit.

"Understand all dealers aren't like that," O'Hara said. "But remember, American women spend $500,000,000 a year on fur garments. They deserve some protection."

Blood Plasma Supply Too Low For Emergency, Red Cross Says

If a major disaster should hit Ohio, calling for an emergency supply of blood plasma, the Red Cross blood donor unit in Columbus would be unable to supply the need, officials there told staff members of the Richland Red Cross chapter today.

The supply at the Columbus unit headquarters is so low that officials said none would be available in case disaster should strike some Ohio area.

One of the reasons for the current critical situation is that Mansfield and Richland county have called on the Columbus bloodmobile unit for 300 more pints of blood since January than has been contributed here.

Richard Wolford, recruitment chairman, said residents of Mansfield and Richland county must contribute 200 pints of blood each visit of the bloodmobile to equal the semand.

So far this county, the largest Red Cross chapter in the state, has been giving an average of only about 65 pints with each visit.

The bloodmobile will be at the Park Avenue Baptist church next Monday and Tuesday.

"If we are to help this critical situation in Columbus, as many donors as possible must appear at the church these two days," Wolford said.

"We need an adequate supply for our own community needs and we should help maintain a sufficient supply in the Columbus headquarters. No one knows when disaster might strike Richland county."

Bill Would Cut Price Supports

Compromise Farm Measure Offered

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators learned today a proposed compromise farm bill would lower existing government price supports for wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts and most grains.

Offsetting these, however, would be higher government price floors under beef, hogs, lambs, milk, butterfat, wool and other commodities.

The changes in levels of government supports would result from a new parity formula included in the compromise bill worked out by Senator Anderson (D-NM) former Secretary of Agriculture.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, designed to give the farmer a purchasing power equal to that of a previous favorable period.

Anderson's compromise bill has been approved by a seven-member agriculture subcommittee. It is scheduled for action by the full 13-member farm legislative group next week.

Agriculture department exprets have supplied senators with a comparison between existing supports — at 90 per cent of the present parity formula — and those for next year under the proposed revised system.

Compared with existing supports — which the House has voted to continue another year — wheat would be down 10 cents a bushel. Corn five cents lower, and cotton down 1.36 cents for $4.80 for a 500-pound bale.

On the other side, the Senate bill would support lambs at $4.10 a hundredweight higher, beef cattle up $3.70 and hogs $1.60 higher.

Whole milk supports would be up 58 cents or more a hundredweight and butterfat 7½ cents higher a pound.

Under the Senate bill the government supports would be flexible so that after the first few years they could be lowered for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts, corn, milk and butterfat to 75 per cent of parity.

On Irish potatoes, wool, mohair and tung nuts the support could drop as low as 60 per cent.

And on most other crops the support level could vary from 90 per cent to nothing, depending upon the secretary of agriculture.

Nixon told police that he was attacked by two men early Friday in a bar. He said that two men asked him: "You're an actor ain't you?" and promptly went for him with a jagged bottle.

Music Now Aids Safety

PORTLAND, Ore. — (UP) — There may be a use for music other than for straight relaxation, although the idea is still in the trial stage. Researchers have been experimenting with music as a means of cutting down accidents on the job.

A University of Washington assistant professor of psychology, Edmund E. Dudek, told the Western Safety Conference meeting in Portland that tests so far have not proven that music will affect industrial accident rates.

Dr. Dudek cited the example of a plant employing over 1,000 men. A study was made at the factory to determine what effect recorded music had on employe morale, production and accident prevention.

All types of music were played up to five hours each shift every day, Dr. Dudek explained, but after the experiment ended, researchers concluded that music at the particular plant had no effect on the accident rate.

A second test was made at a state hospital and the accident rate fell 27 per cent among the patients as a result of recorded music played over the radio system in the wards.

But the study was made during six spring and summer months and only three autumn and winter months, when accident rates climb.

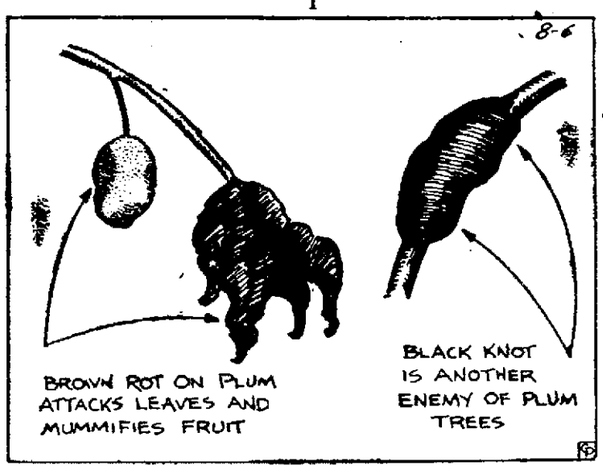
Health Check-Up For Plums



By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Association

If you have a plum tree or two on your home grounds, as many home gardeners do, repay them for the crops they bear by giving them a health check-up from time to time. Fall is a good time to go over such trees for signs of disease.

Plums are susceptible to brown rot, a disease which also affects peach and cherry trees. When this disease exists, a fungus appears as soft grey spore masses on the fruit. This causes the fruit to "mummify," after which it either falls to the ground or clings to the tree, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

When brown rot is present, the twigs on the sick tree become blighted in a manner similar to the destructive "fire blight" which affects pear trees. Watch for withered leaves clinging to a plum twig, as illustrated.

Best protective measure against brown rot and other diseases of fruit trees is orchard sanitation. If you have detected brown rot, be sure to rake up and burn all "mummified" fruit found on the ground; also remove and destroy any such fruit remaining on the tree. Dust the ailing trees with sulphur during the growing season.

Another disease which affects plum trees is known as "black knot." Horticulturists consider this fungus disease to be the worst enemy of the plum tree. It starts on the twigs and branches as a swelling which bursts during summer and shows a soft, dark greenish or yellowish surface. It darkens and becomes black by fall and can easily be seen once the foliage has dropped. Look for elongated black knots on the smaller limbs of a plum tree, as illustrated.

When black knot is found to be present in a tree, promptness in cutting out and burning the knots in the autumn or early winter is the most effective way to control or eradicate the disease.

Cyclist On World Tour

ISTANBUL — (UP) — Mehmet Irfan Kipman, curly-haired young Turk who is afraid of cats but little else, has taken off on a motorcycle for a 33,000-miles trip around the world that is scheduled to take him through Asia, the Far East, South and North America and finally Europe before his return to Istanbul.

When Kipman left Istanbul he had a huge Mexican - type straw hat tied on top of his four big saddle bags and an extra four-gallon gasoline tank he had build onto his shiny new motorcycle.

By way of ceremony to begin the trip officially, he laid a huge wreath of flowers at the Taksim square Ataturk monument, posed for photographers in his cavalry boots fwan-colored riding trousers and two-tone leather jacket.

The 33-year-old accordion player thinks he can complete the tour in six months. His map calls for passage through Ankara Teheran, Lahore, Delhi, Calcutta, Mandalay, Rangoon, Saigon, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Panama, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Mexico City, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Liverpool, Paris Genoa, Trieste, Sarajevo, Salonica and back to Istanbul, with dozens of other stops in between.

Jimmy Tells His Story

around Lake Noah. They have six horses for us to ride here at camp.

The first real interesting thing at camp was a fireworks show and swimming show Thursday night. The show lasted two hours and we had chocolate milk and doughnuts before we went to bed.

They play taps at 10 p. m. but we talked for a couple of hours in bed after the lights were out. They get us up at 8 a. m. for flagraising and breakfast.

When we reached camp they gave us two coupon books worth $1 apiece. These books are good for soft drinks, model planes and boats, candy bars and ice cream here at camp. When we run out of coupons they give us another book. We can't spend any of our own money.

This morning (Friday) I got weighed in and my car inspected at Derby Downs. I weighed 240 pounds with the car. I had weighed 226 at the Mansfield Derby. I gained more than I thought. I really must have been eating a lot.

They have given us a pocket flashlight, a knife, Soap Box swimming trunks, ball caps and yellow shirts. We get one more gift before the races Sunday.

I can hardly wait for the race and want to get my trial run. Hope I turn out as well here as in Mansfield.

I have no trouble sleeping but I sure wish the race was right now.

80 Teams to Compete In Best-Ball Tomorrow

Indians Hang Crepe on Pennant Hopes

Soap Box Pairings Listed

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

AKRON—A pair of youngsters from Green Bay, Wisconsin, and Kinston, North Carolina, will test the metal of Smilin' Jimmy Mitchell in the first round of competition in the 12th All-American Soap Box Derby here tomorrow afternoon.

Mitchell, the 12-year-old Crestline youth who won the 1949 Mansfield News-Journal Soap Box race, has been favored by the luck of the draw. Both of his opponents are also among the younger drivers in a field which is dominated by 14 and 15 year olds.

Ken G. Tyndall, the Kinston lad, is 13 while Thomas H. Tretun, Green Bay, is 12.

Tyndall will drive the Kinston Free Press car. His father says, "I can't remember Ken as a little boy without a hammer, a nail or a knife in his hand."

Ken's mother reports he used to fall asleep at night with a Soap Box Derby rule book in his hand. He raced in three previous Kinston derbys.

Tommy Tretun is a chunky 90-pounder whose father is a paper company engineer.

N-J PASSES

The sleek, black "News-Journal Special" which Mitchell will pilot in the finals passed inspection without a hitch yesterday. Jimmy, himself, is quietly confident. He won two Mansfield Class B championships and says, "I only hope I can do as well in the nationals."

Mitchell got into the television act when cameras yesterday caught him at work "tightening" his racer. Jimmy was also before the camera at a swimming party Thursday night.

Movie star Jimmie Stewart and his new bride, the former Gloria McLean, were scheduled to arrive today. This will be the third national Derby for Stewart. He plans to visit the youngsters at Derbytown and will speak at the annual "banquet of champions" Sunday evening.

A full length color film of the 1949 Derby, featuring the part sponsoring newspapers play in making the event such a success, is being made here.

Derby officials are predicting a crowd of 90,000 tomorrow and the United States weather bureau forcasts "fair and pleasant for all of Sunday."

At least 13 bands will compete in the Derby parade preceding the championship races. The Derby is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. fast time.

Starting Times Are Announced

One hundred sixty golfers, paired in 80 best-ball teams, will battle for a $140 prize list in the Amateur-Amateur tournament of the Mansfield Athletic commission tomorrow.

Pairings for the tournament were announced today by the golf committee of the commission. Firing will start at 10 a. m. at both Possum Run and Coolidge courses with all competitors to go 18 holes.

The 160-man entry list represents the largest total of local men ever to play in one tournament, the previous high being the 134 which played in the first best-ball. Thirteen teams will play in Class AA, 27 in Class A, 30 in Class B and 10 in Class C.

Entry money received totaled $160 but the committee voted to with-hold $20 to help build up a large prize kitty for the city tournament. All prizes are paid in merchandise certificates.

Three Collegians Injured In Tilt

CHICAGO — (UP) — Injuries go with football and there is no reason to ban players from the all star team just because they may get hurt, professional football authorities said today.

Their comment followed reports of serious training injuries suffered by their all star players — end Dick Rifenberg, Michigan; tackle Bill Kay, Iowa and fullback John Panelli, Notre Dame. All probably will be out for the season.

New Cage Coach

WILMINGTON — (AP) — Chester Marshall has been appointed head basketball coach at Wilmington college. He also will be director of athletics and assistant professor of physical education.

STATUE HONORS BABE—Babe Ruth Memorial, which will be placed in Gates of Heaven cemetery, New York, is being completed by Franz Pechmann in Ozone Park, L. I., as Dickie Taliaferri, 11, (in baseball uniform) and Johnny Richichi, 11, look on admiringly. (International)

Collegians Are Crushed 38-0 By Champion Eagles

By LEE FERRERO

CHICAGO—(INS)—An ominous shadow of things to come in the football world of 1949 was cast across the country's gridirons today in the wake of the Philadelphia Eagles' humiliating 38 to 0 defeat of the College All-Stars.

The worst licking ever suffered by any team in the 16-year history of the annual football extravaganza resulted in two things:

It will be a while yet before the highly-touted split-T potion brewed by All - Star Coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson of Oklahoma—and as played by the All-Stars last night—will be sipped politely in gridiron circles.

It stamped the rough and ready Eagles, sparked by Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson and Pete Pihos, as the team to beat in the National Football league season.

93,000 WATCH

A throng of 93,000 fans jammed Soldier field hard by the cool breezes of Lake Michigan and watched the Eagles defending NFL champions, chastize the collegiate upstarts, exhibiting before all how the conventional T formation should be worked.

The All-Stars failed to come up with any outstanding leader in its highly-vaunted line until All - America Paul Burris of Oklahoma stopped the high-flying Eagles several times.

In deep, dark contrast, the Eagles utilized a well-mixed passing and running game to score twice in the second quarter, once in the third and twice again in the final canto. Automatic Cliff Patton added a 23-yard field goal in the second quarter and converted successfully after each touchdown.

The Eagles' six-pointers came on an end run from a few inches out by Van Buren, a four-yard plunge by Russ Craft, ex-Alabama star, a bullet-like toss from six yards out, Thompson to Pihos, and the two final quarter touchdowns on a four-yard plunge by Noble Doss and an 11-yard pass from Bill Mackrides to Neill Armstrong.

LIGHTS LAST NIGHT

COLUMBUS (O.)—Lights were installed at Cooper Stadium, Columbus, in time for last night's game between the Columbus Red Birds and the Buffalo Bisons of the International league.

Veeck Angry As Ump Works At Grid Game

CLEVELAND —(UP)— President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians said today he would protest to American League president Will Harridge over the "umpire who wasn't there" at last night's Cleveland - Chicago game.

The Indians lost the game, 6-5, when two runs scored as umpire Ed Hurley ruled that Larry Doby had "trapped" and not caught a fly ball from the bat of Joe Ostrowski.

Veeck and Manager Lou Boudreau maintained that Doby caught the ball just off the ground but Hurley ruled otherwise and Veeck charged later that a different ruling might have resulted if there had been four umpires at the game instead of three.

AT GRID GAME

"Berry, instead, was officiating at the all-star football game in Chicago," Veeck said. "Yet he was here the night before and if he had been here last night he would have been on second base and we might have had a better decision.

"It seems to me that if the American league is not paying its umpires enough to keep them on the baseball field and out of football games we had better raise their pay, and right now."

Veeck said he had tried to call Harridge last night to protest "but he was at the football game too."

The angry tribe head said that "if one of my players wanted off to participate in an all-star game right in the middle of a hot pennant race he would get a flat 'no' for an answer. I don't think we can spare umpires any more than we can players."

Ferguson May See Little Action In All-Star Tilt

MASSILLON—Excitement ran high in this football conscious city today as pre-game dopesters predicted a toss-up between North and South in the fourth annual Ohio high school all-star football game here tonight.

backs on the Southern team.

A few thousand tickets were left as game time approached and officials predicted the gate would be more than 15,00 spectators.

Fans were looking forward to a ball-carrying duel between John Colceri of Canton McKinley and Jim Bailey of Hamilton Public, generally regarded as the two best backs on the Ohio schoolastic gridiron last fall.

WTAG - FM, Ashland will broadcast the North - South game at 7:30 p. m. tonight direct from Massillon's Tiger stadium.

Both teams slept late yesterday morning and held brief workouts in the afternoon, the last before the kickoff at 7:45 (EST) tonight.

Massillon stores, which ordinarily remain open late on Saturday night, planned to close early because of the game.

Paul "Pinkie" Ferguson, Mansfield quarterback on the North team, will see only limited action according to Coach Ralph Ness of Lakewood.

"His biggest trouble is his size" Ness said last night. "We like him a lot but we have two tall quarterbacks in Don Burson of Lakewood and Mark Scarr of Barberton. Ferguson is more apt to see action as a replacement for right halfback Bert Skbarka of Struthers."

Starting lineups:

North: Ends—Frank McPhee, Youngstown Chaney, and Dick Davidson. Alliance, tackles—Nick O'Brovac, Canton McKinley, and Dick Olson, Lorain; guards—James Alder, Luna Central, and Mike Takacs, Massillon; center—Bill Armstrong, Lakewood; backs—Bob Burson, Lakewood, John Colceri, Canton McKinley, Bernie Skvarka, Struthers, and Al Brown, Massillon.

South: Ends—Ora Day, Hamilton, and Bob Grimes, Middletown; tackles—Chuck Weeks, Columbus West, and Bob Kane, Newark; guards—Don Grammer, Dayton Fairview, and Bill Combs, Middletown, center—Glenn Sample, Cincinnati Western Hills. Backs—Curt Jones and Babs Calhoun, Middletown, Jim Ball, Hamilton Public, and Bob Koepnick, Dayton Chaminade.

Coaches attending the football clinic here in conjunction with the all-star game were guests of the Tiger Booster club at a banquet last night with Columbus Mayor James A. Rhodes the principal speaker. The clinic was to be concluded this afternoon.

White Fires 65 To Lead Tam o' Shanter

CHICAGO —(INS)— The fates that once smiled upon O'Neal (Buck) White of Greenwood, Miss., returned to the scene at Chicago's Tam O' Shanter country club today and winked at him as the 36 - hole leader in George S. May's $35,200 world championship golf tournament.

White's sparkling seven-under-par 65 yesterday made him top man in golfdom's richest tournament. His play recalls the days in 1943 when he tied Jug McSpaden in the All-American open over those same fairways.

White, the 38 - year - old instructor of national open champion Cary Middlecoff, was one stroke ahead of former B-29 gunner ohnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.

And — a $10,000 first prize awaited the sun-bronzed stylist from the magnolia state if he is still the kingpin Sunday evening.

That's more money than White has made from golf all year. According to the professional golf association, his earnings are only $2,842.16.

Two strokes behind white were Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., and Ed Furgol of Royal Oaks, Mich., were deadlocked at 138.

Cool Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago had 141. Mangrum is defending champion and just this week won Tam o'Shanter's All-American tournament for the second time.

Defending champion Babe Zaharias of Denver had 147 and a three-storke edge on Minneapolis Patty Berg in the women's professional division.

Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., registered 157 to lead Alice Bauer of Los Angles by one swing in the women amateur bracket.

Fail To Beat Chicago And Fall Into Third

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A dark gloom filled the Cleveland Indians wigwam today as the Tribe, now in third place, took a day off before resuming its series with the "spoilers" from Chicago, the White Sox.

The Chisox, who formerly were described as the Indians' cousins, edged the Tribe, 6-5, in the ninth inning of last night's game to drop the Redskins five and a half games behind the New York Yankees and a half game in back of the second place Boston Red Sox, who took a doubleheader from Washington.

It wasn't the 10 Chicago hits that defeated the Tribesmen, according to 31,424 fans, but a decision by Umpire Ed Hurley in the sixth inning, when the White Sox scored two runs on a "single" to center field.

BASES LOADED

With the bases filled in that inning and two out, all runners were moving when Herbie Adams popped a blooper into center field. Larry Doby charged the ball, dived, and apparently came up with it fairly in back of second base.

Hurley, however, had a different opinion and he ruled that Doby "trapped" the ball. He called the hit a double and two runs scored, under a heavy protest from the whole Cleveland team and a continual shout of "boo" from the spectators.

Those two markers made the score 4-1, for the Sox had scored once in the second and again in the fourth, while the Indians' only run came in the first on a triple by Dale Mitchell and a single by Mickey Vernon.

Doby, dejected after the contest, claimed that "I caught it. My glove was straight and I couldn't have trapped it."

TIE SCORE

The Indians, however, tied the score in the last of the eighth after Pitcher Randy Gumpert held them to three bingles for the first seven frames.

Mitchell batted in the first run as he singled to right with Thurman Tucker, a pinchhitter for Jim Hegan, on second base by virtue of a walk. Doby then hit his 16th home run of the year and scored behind Dale Mitchell.

Chicago racked up two more markers in the ninth, however, off Gene Bearden and Al Benton. Two singles and a double accounted for the pair of tallies Bearden, although pitching only one-third of an inning, was charged with the defeat. Early Wynn had started the game.

A desperate attempt to tie the score was made by the Indians in the ninth, but they fell one run short. Joe Gordon doubled after Manager Lou Boudreau grounded out. After Luke Easter grounded out batting for Berardino, Bob Kennedy singled to center, scoring Gordon, but Ken Keltner batted for Tresh and flied out.

The Tribe clashes with the White Sox in a doubleheader tomorrow at the Municipal stadium. Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia will do the hurling for Cleveland, while Chicago Manager Jack Onslow has chosen Billy Pierce and Mickey Haefner.

Cards Regain Lead As Bums Lose

By JOHN BARRINGTON

NEW YORK — (INS) — The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals combined today to turn the National league pennant race into an unrehearsed Alphonse - Gaston act, but from no matter what the pitchers it was the Dodgers who to give ground last night and they obligingly blew their 2½ hours - old lead to one-half game, allowing the Cardinals to go ahead by the same margin.

St. Louis walloped Pittsburgh, 8 to 2 with Stan Musial and Joe Garagiola accounting for runs batted in while Gerry Staley gave the Pirates only six hits.

Meanwhile, home runs by Tommy Holmes and Bob Heath, each with a man aboard, spelled doom for the Dodgers, who lost to the Boston Braves, 5 to 3.

Big Don Newcombe was the victim, being charged with his fourth loss against 11 victories. Nelson Potter went the route for Boston for his sixth win.

In the other National league game of the day, above-average pitching prevailed as Harry Brecheen coasted to his 15th victory as the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the New York Giants, 2 to 0.

Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

The Boston Red Sox gained sole second place in the American league by sweeping a doubleheader from Washington, 5 to 7 and 13 to 11.

The pesky Philadelphia Athletics, who had 14 hits in each game, dropped a seven - inning affair to the Yankees, 13 to 4, and then bowed in the second game on Hank Bauer's ninth inning single, 3 to 2.

Virgil Trucks allowed only two hits, both in the first inning, as the Detroit Tigers trounced the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1. It was Trucks 14th victory.

The Red Sox, who had one night gone ahead of Cleveland and one game behind the league leading New York Yankees.

The Indians slipped to third place when Herb Adams' single with the bases full in the ninth gave the Chicago White Sox a 6 - to - 5 triumph over the Tribe.

Cleveland had tied the score at 4-all in the eighth with three tallies, two on Larry Doby's 16th homer.

Meanwhile the Yankees sailed along with a 7-to-3 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics. Tommy Byrne settled down after a shanky first inning to pitch six-hit ball and record his forth triumph.

Virgil Trucks allowed only two hits both in the first inning as the Detroit Tigers trounced the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1. It was Trucks 14th victory.

Rep. Helen Douglas Blushes But Gets Amendment Passed

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Masculine members of the House were surprised yesterday to learn they had voted to "cover" —and not "uncover"—10,000 women.

It was all a question of verbal confusion on the part of Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, D., Calif., and leaping at conclusions on the part of the afore-said masculine members.

Mrs. Douglas took the floor during the noisy debate on the Wage-Hour act and offered an amendment. In the hubbub, nobody understood what it was and in her usual clear, firm voice, she began to explain:

"Ten - thousand women will be uncovered in this amendment. . ."

Delighted male members whooped her amendment through before she could get any more words out of her mouth. Mrs. Douglas turned a deep crimson and walked back to her seat.

Actually, things were a little topsy-turvy. The bill before the House was an "amendment" to the Wage - Hour act and had a provision which would "uncover" 10,000 telephone girls now under its provisions.

Mrs. Douglas was offering an "amendment to the amendment" to keep the 10,000 operators "covered." She won but mostly because she chose to talk about the "amendment" rather than her "amendment to the amendment."

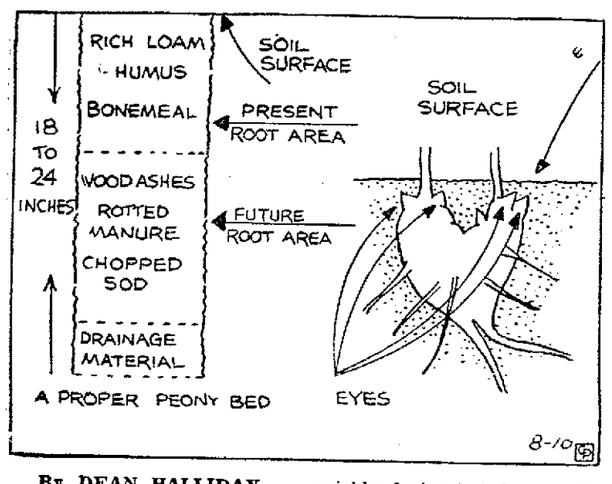
Today's Garden Graph

Fall Planting of Peonies



By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Central Press Association)

Peonies should be planted when dormant, which is in early fall, from mid-August to November. They can be planted in early spring, but fall planting is preferred.

Peonies resent being moved and once planted will bloom successfully for many years. Therefore, they should be planted in beds that have been thoroughly prepared.

The chart shown in the accompanying Garden - Graph illustrates the soil requirements for real success with peonies. It calls for digging the soil 18 to 24 inches deep. When necessary, place drainage material in the bottom. The bottom layer of soil should be mixed with well rotted manure, wood ashes, sod or other humos. If manure is not available, then mix in a commerical plant food such as 4-12-4.

Fertilizers must not come in contact with with roots for fear of burning them, so in the upper 8 or 10 inches of soil where the roots will set, use rich loam mixed with humus and bone meal.

When planting peonies, set the tuber in the soil so the top bud is two inches below soil surface, as illustrated. If peonies are planted to keep they will not bloom or else they will merely produce blind buds. If they are not planted deep enough, they are subject to winter injury. Shallow planted roots dry out quickly during hot dry weather.

Work the soil in among the roots and pack it firmly, being careful not to bruise or break any roots. Space the plants three to four feet apart to allow for future development.

Rev. Ruffing to Head New Catholic Parish

Opening Set For Sept. 4

Takes Over Newman School

Rev. Robert H. Ruffing of Holgate will be the rector of the newly - established St. Mary's Catholic parish, "Our Lady of the Snows," in the northeast section of Mansfield on Sept. 4, it has been announced by Bishop Karl J. Alter of the Toledo diocese

Rev. Ruffing will arrive in Mansfield Sept. 2 to look over his new parish before starting his official pastorate on Sept. 4.

The new diocese, according to the decree issued by Bishop Alter, will take in the territory lying north and east of the Pennsylvania railroad, beginning at the northwest city limits and extending south and east to the Richland county limits.

"All the Catholic faithful of the Diocese of Toledo living within this territory shall from the date that this decrees goes into effect receive the canonical sacraments at the hands of their proper pastor and shall contribute to the support of the new St Mary parish," the decree reads.

That decree will be effective on the first Sunday of September. Prior to that date, it will be read at St Peter's Catholic church at all Sunday Masses in the month of August, according to Bishop Alter's pronouncement.

USE NEWMAN SCHOOL

The diocese has purchased the old Newman school building and it will be adapted for use both as a parish school and church. Although the parish will be established officially beginning on Sept. 4, the school will not open until the fall of 1950, Bishop Alter announced.

Decision to establish the new Catholic parish was made by Bishop Alter because of the growth of the St. Peter's Catholic parish here. St. Peter's is the second largest parish in the Toledo diocese, with a congregation numbering 5,280 persons. The new parish will take in about 1,500 of these members.

Rev. Ruffing was born in Norwalk in 1903, attended St. Paul's parochial school there and later was a student at St. Joseph's college in Collegeville, Ind. He had two years at St. Gregory Seminary, Cincinnati, and four years at the American College at Rome, Italy.

Ordained in Rome on Jan. 15, 1928, Rev. Ruffing has served successively as assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Maumee, assistant pastor at St. Mary's in Tiffin and since Nov. 12, 1937 as pastor at the St. Mary s parish in Holgate.

Rev. Ruffing has been a friend of Msgr. R. C. Goebel, rector of the St. Peter's Catholic church here, for a number of years.

"It's quite an assignment," Rev. Ruffing said today, "but I'm sure with the cooperation of everyone we will make the parish a successful one."

Office Plan Signatures Slashed Off

20 Per Cent Found Invalid

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The secretary of state's office said today that 20 per cent of the signatures checked to date on the Massachusetts ballot petitions are faulty.

Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeny, Ohio's chief election officer, estimated that some 88,000 signatures on the petitions filed by the ballot committee are "obviously invalid."

The sponsored petitions filed a few days ago are asking for a change in Ohio's ballot from the present party type, to ballots requiring the voter to choose by office. The purpose is to eliminate straight party voting.

"I am neutral in this," Sweeney said, "but I must see that the law is followed"

Sweeney is a Democrat. The office type ballot sponsors in the main are Republicans and backers of U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft.

Sweeney's comment raised the question of whether the petitions can qualify their amendment for a vote. Needing just over 301,000 valid signatures, a 20 per cent loss would put them in danger of failure since Sweeney expressed the opinion that the number filed might not equal the number required after faulty signatures were thrown out.

Sweeney pointed out that the errors appeared to be in the manner in which the names were signed, in their legibility, and in the fact that hundreds of signers spot - checked were not registered voters.

If the committee does not have the required 301,000 names, it will have a ten day period to obtain additional signatures.

Wedding or Not, Bells Ring Out

ALTOONA, Pa — (INS) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley is hearing bells today, but they're not the wedding kind.

The vice president was presented with a miniature locomotive bell at Altoona's centennial celebration last night at which he spoke.

Tinkling it, Barkley said: "The newspapers have been filling my ears with rumors about bells, but this bell has the real ring to it."

Earlier, he had said he hasn't discussed the possibility of marriage with Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, St Louis widow, with whom Barkley's name has been linked romantically.

Freezer Motive Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators investigating five percenters today sought a motive for the reported shipment of unasked-for home freezers to Mrs. Harry S. Truman and other Washington notables.

Chief Counsel William P. Rogers said the Senate's special investigations subcommittee has a subpoena out for Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man whose name cropped up in testimony at the inquiry. Lawmakers hoped he might shed some light on the subject.

A committee member said privately he had seen invoices showing that a freezer was sent to Mrs. Truman at Independence, Mo., and that two were shipped Maj. Gen Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's army aide.

The senator said the invoices also list shipments to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, Federal Reserve Governor James K Vardaman, and Presidential Secretary Matt Connelly.

The vouchers—not yet in the record—are dated 1945 and early 1946. At that time Vinson was first reconversion director and later secretary of the treasury. Vardaman was Mr. Truman's naval aide.

BARED BY GROSS

The invoices were brought to the inquiry by Albert J. Gross, a Milwaukee businessman who testified Thursday that he shipped a freezer to Vaughan and other prominent Washingtonians. He said all of the units were paid for by the Albert Verley company, the Chicago perfume firm for which John Maragon worked in 1945.

Maragon, who once had entree to the White House, is a key figure in the committe's search for influence peddlers.

Gross' testimony was cut off after he named Vaughan as a recipient of one of the freezers. Chairman Hoey (D-NC) said the committee wanted to get all the facts before putting out the rest of the names.

He added that one person listed already has told him he did not get one.

Another committee member said he was told Mrs Truman sent a thank-you note to Gross, thinking he was the donor.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said yesterday he had "no information whatever" when he was questioned about the reports dealing with Mrs. Truman and the others. Vinson had no comment. He said he preferred to have the facts come out at the senate investigation

Quake Toll Hits 6,000

QUITO, Ecuador —(AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso says latest reports on Ecuador's Aug. 5 earthquake have boosted the estimated property damage to $67,500,000 and the number of dead to more than 6 000

The president said it is not possible to fix the exact number of casualties, but that all calculations, including that of a U. S. relief mission, "tend to raise the (previously estimated) 4,000 figure to more than 6,000."

Maurice Reddy, assistant disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, who visited the stricken areas, said that in the town of Pelileo he witnessed "the most complete destruction I ever say in 29 years in the Red Cross."

"Not a single house or building is left standing," he said.

President Galo Plaza said that of Pelileo's 3,500 residents there were only 300 known survivors.

5% FIGURES—Currently involved in the Senate's 5% probe are the four figures shown above. Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man, was linked to the freezer gifts allegedly made to Mrs. Truman, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Maj Gen Harry Vaughan and other top figures of the United States. Revealing the gifts was Albert J. Gross, Milwaukee businessman "We never got a penny's worth of anything—not even a decent letter" from James V. Hunt, Gross told investigators after testifying he paid Hunt $1,000 in an effort to obtain sheet steel while Hunt was a $50-a-day War Assets consultant. Another witness, Clarence Oehler, St. Louis, Mo., former War Assets warehouse supervisor in Chicago, accused of transmitting confidential information to Hunt by letter, tells the committee he labeled the information "confidential" only as a buildup for a future job with Hunt.

They also will receive special training in camouflage, security and tactical movement of troops.

Seek Rabbi In Swindle

NEW YORK — (AP) — A rabbi—accused of swindling members of his congregation out of thousands of dollars by telling them the money would aid Isreal—was sought by police today.

He was identified as Solomon Eickenstein, a rabbi of Manhattan's lower east side.

The rabbi's wife, charged with being an accomplice in the purported scheme, was put under arrest last night at a hospital, where she gave birth to a baby Thursday.

A policewoman was posted at her bedside.

Police said the alleged frauds may involve up to $300,000.

A Manhattan grand jury has indicted the rabbi on charges of fraud and grand larceny, and his wife for grand larceny and acting in concert with him.

Race Tops City's Air Regatta

Scores of Pilots To Stage Show

Private pilots from all over the state will go into action in Mansfield's air regatta tomorrow at Municipal airport.

Besides the Mansfield pilots who are going to fly the 180-mile course there will be visiting airmen from Toledo, Canton, Youngstown, and other Ohio cities.

There will be 12 classes of light aircraft in the race and more than 50 persons are expected to enter by race time tomorrow.

The planes will take off from the airport at 1 p. m. Sunday for the five-pylon event. The pylons are check points over several Ohio cities. The names of the check points will not be announced until briefing time at the Sky Club at 11:30 a. m.

The day's events will begin at 9 a m with an open house at the airport where visitors can inspect five different types of aircraft on the ground.

Sixteen of the visitors will be chosen by lot to fly with the pilots in the air parade over the city at 10 a. m.

Mansfield's own 164th Air National Guard squadron will perform one of the highlights of the day's program. The unit will provide two "aerobatic teams" to perform high over the field. Members of the teams include Capt. William O. Ash, the squadron's commander, Capt George Wilson, Capt. Howard Hoops, and Lt. Albert Owens

TRIES FOR RECORD

The 164th will try to better its record in the "scrambled take-off," which it established at the Dover Air Force base during summer encampment. In Dover the squadron sent eight planes into the air in 55 seconds. The operation is practice for an operational "alert"

The squadron's Dover performance broke the record for the field. Although it is the youngest of Ohio's Air Guard squadrons, the 164th took top honors in Dover.

The classes of light craft participating in the trophy races are Aeronca, BT-13, Beech Bonanza, Bellanca, Cessna, Encoupe, Luscombe, Piper, Navion, Stinson, Swift, and Taylorcraft

There will be a trophy for each race and the scoring woman pilot will receive a bouquet of flowers in addition to what ever trophy she may win

Power Will Be Cut Off

Electric service will be shut off from 6 a. m. to 7 30 a. m. tomorrow in several areas in and near the city so line changes can be made, officials of the Ohio Public Service company announced today.

The areas which will be without electric power for the hour - and - a - half period include Cook road from Woodville road to Trimble road, Woodville road south to Hanley road, Diamond street road south to Little Washington, Pleasant Valley and Possum Run roads, and Washington township south of Hanley road.

Residents of South Boulevards will not be affected by the shut-off in the Cook road area, officials said.

Showers Drop Mercury

Mansfielders were enjoying welcome relief from the latest heat wave today as lower temperatures and cool breezes followed yesterday's heavy deluge of rain

The weatherman said the highest reading today would be between 80 and 85 degrees, 10 degrees cooler than high marks recorded in the state earlier this week

However, the temperature in Mansfield at 10:30 a. m. today already had reached 78, only one degree below yesterday's high of 79 at 5 p. m. Low for the 24-hour period was 69 at 6 a. m. today.

Although several Ohio cities counted damage caused by heavy thunder and electrical storms yesterday, the heavy rains in central and northern Ohio helped save the corn crop in those areas, agricultural experts said.

Mansfield's total rainfall for the 24-hour period ended at 7:30 a. m. today was recorded as 1 61 inches at Municipal airport. However, the Mansfield sewage treatment plant on Park avenue east reported two inches of rainfall from 9 a. m. until noon yesterday.

Ohio State university's agronomy department reported the rain as "making the corn crop" in central and northern Ohio areas

A spokesman said the crop in southern Ohio already had "set" and was not seriously in need of more moisture. But in central and northern portions of the state rain was needed badly to fill setting kernels during the next two weeks, he added

In western Massachusetts, a storm described as of cloudburst intensity forced the evacuation of several families in Chicopee. Rain was general throughout the state, ending a forest fire hazard.

In Idaho a heavy rain aided fire fighters battling a timber blaze in the Salmon river area of the Payette National forest.

U. S. Rests 'Rose' Case

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — The government rested its treason case against Tokyo Rose today, closing six arduous weeks of testimony by 46 witnesses.

Wayne Collins, attorney for the defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, on Monday will begin a rebuttal based on the contention that Mrs. D'Aquino intended her wartime broadcasts over Radio Tokyo as entertainment for allied troops rather than as a treasonable attempt to break their moral.

A special session with the jury absent was ordered for today by Judge Michael Roche The hearing, which might give a clue to Collins' tactics, gave Collins an opportunity to argue on several motions.

Prosecutor Tom DeWolfe decided to end his case after a little more than half of his total list of 71 witnesses testified He said he was already made arrangements to fly a number of the Japanese who were not called back to Tokyo

Profit-Wage Linking Hit

NEW YORK — (AP) — Economist Dr Jules Backman told presidential fact - finders yesterday that it would be foolish to try to gear steelworkers' wages to fluctuating profits of the steel industry.

To do so, he said, would result in a flighty up - and - down wage pattern, and damage the stability of business and employment. He said:

"Adherence to this theory would result in chaotic wage structures, reduced corporate savings, impair incentives and in turn reduce job opportunities, create high wage costs based upon temporary conditions, and cause wages to fluctuate erratically"

Wooster Man Held In City

Goods Taken At Depot Here

U. S. postal inspectors said at noon today that a 44-year-old Wooster man confessed the theft of parcel post valued at $10,000 from the Union railroad station in Mansfield

The thefts have occurred over the past year, officers said.

Federal inspectors are holding DeForrest C. Miller, Wooster, R D 1, in the thefts. The officers said he has been employed at the station at nights for the past two years.

Miller, specialized in the theft of men's suits, women's clothing, shoes, shipments of nylon hose, radios and other merchandise, Assistant Inspector W. L. Ferrell said.

The outlets for the stolen merchandise are still under investigation. Miller will be given a preliminary hearing before the United States Commissioner at Canton. He will be taken to Cleveland today to be held in the Cuyahoga county jail until the hearing Monday.

The investigation presented an unusual aspect in that all the stolen parcel post was in transit through Mansfield and most of it was the "long haul" type, merely being transferred from one railroad to another in Mansfield.

Postal inspectors said the mail thefts were the largest ever reported in the Mansfield area.

Inspector Farrell said agents have been secretly investigating the case for the past several months.

U. S. Postal inspectors under the direction of Chief Postal Inspector C. C. Garner arrested Miller here today. The inspectors were J. P. Kinney, C. A. Maddux, and J. R. Sims, all under the supervision of Inspector in Charge J. P. Nolan, Cincinnati.

Miller had worked for the Erie railroad for about two years. Formerly he was a fireman for the Pennsylvania railroad at Crestline.

Agents Raid Jungle Inn

Slots Seized At Gambling Casino

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Five key employes seized in a raid on the gambling casino, Jungle Inn, were carted off to jail today after state liquor agents held them prisoner in the establishment for some 12 hours.

They were taken to Warren where 15 other employes were locked up shortly after the raid last night. Charges were not filed immediately

Headed by State Liquor Director Oscar Fleckner and his enforcement chief, Anthony J. Rutkowski, 12 agents swooped down on the elaborate club in a carefully planned maneuver.

There were about 1,000 patrons in the club at the time. All were ordered to leave.

No liquor was found, but agents confiscated 100 slot machines, money and other gambling apparatus. The slot machines were reportedly worth $35,000.

A hearing was set before common pleas Judge Lynn Griffith in Warren today to determine what to do with the contraband.

The five top officials of the club were booked as Myron Elias, 38, Niles; Claude M. Hoagland, 57, Garfield Heights; Hobn Farah, 43, Cleveland; Steve Butch, 32, Youngstown and Eddie Tobin, 42, Girard.

There was no immediate explanation why they were not jailed when the other employes were arrested.

The Journal, along with other major Chicago newspapers, has been struck since Nov 24, 1947, by the Chicago Typographical union.

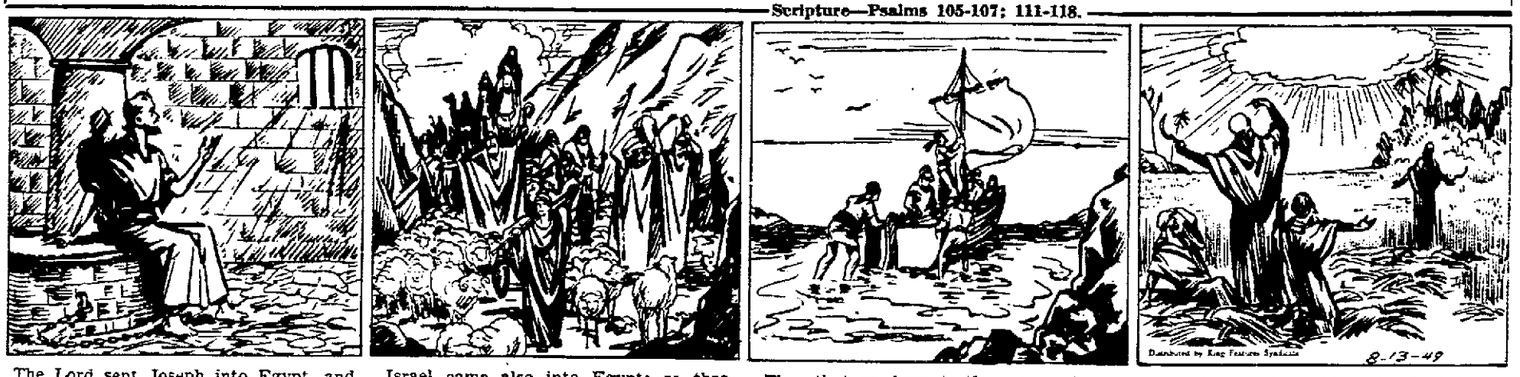
Songs Sung at Festivals — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 105-107; 111-118.



The Lord sent Joseph into Egypt, and he was sold as a servant and was a prisoner in irons until the word of the Lord tried him.

Israel came also into Egypt; so that Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham; and the Lord increased His people greatly, and made them strong.

They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; These see the works of the Lord and His wonders.

This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it, for He is good

He said "one of the most alarming symptoms" is the way the de-nazification program has been handled by the western democracies, including the United States.

Birds Keep Big Ben Running Late

LONDON — (INS) — Big Ben got the bird last night.

Londoners were shocked when they looked up and saw parliament's huge — and usually accurate — clock five minutes late.

A flock of starlings had settled on the 14-foot minute hand of the great chimed clock and upset its mechanism. An engineer climbed up the clock tower and promptly put the erring minute hand back in its proper place.

Begins 43rd Year In Ministry On 70th Birthday

Double Celebration To Honor Pastor

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Tomorrow is a big day in the life of Rev. Andrew J. Payne, pastor of Shiloh Baptist church. He will be honored at a special church celebration on the occasion of his 70th birthday and the beginning of his 43rd year as an ordained minister.

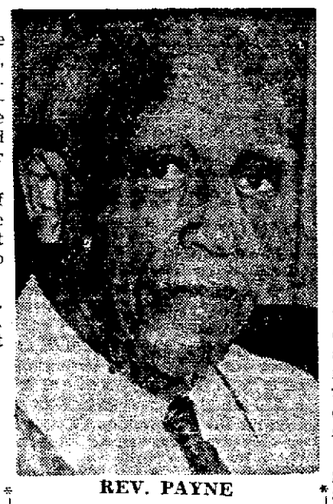
Rev. Payne's long record of service is not the only thing he has to be proud of. His life might well serve as an inspiration to others.

Born on a farm in Virginia, the son of slave parents, Rev. Payne attended school for part of two-five-month terms.

Undaunted by what many might have considered an unsurmountable obstacle he started school at the age of 24, working his way through Hilltop Seminary and College in West Virginia. Although hampered by his lack of college preparation, he completed the four year course in two years.

Since that time Rev. Payne has attended West Virginia Institute, received an honorary degree from Union university at Richmond, Va., and a degree for two years' post graduate work at Temple university, Philadelphia, Pa.

In 1931 he took a summer course in psychology at Ohio State university because, as he put it, "you can use plenty of psychology in church work."



REV. PAYNE

Rev. Payne has been pastor of seven churches since he was ordained July 8, 1907. Three of the churches were in Ohio, three in Pennsylvania, and one in West Virginia. He has been pastor of Shiloh Baptist church for nearly nine years.

Preaching Sunday sermons has been only a part of Rev. Payne's church work. He has been teaching a Sunday school class each week since he became pastor of his first church at Races Landing, Pa., a small coal mining town of less than 5,000 people. In addition, Rev. Payne has completely built three churches and remodeled two others.

When he came to Mansfield his congregation held services in a small building on Wayne street, seating only 130 persons. In 1942 he moved his group into the present church home at the corner of Willis avenue and Second street which has a seating capacity of approximately 250.

Rev. Payne served as contractor and worked with members of the church when they bought a 10-room house and added a new front and remodeled it for their church. A 36-by-40-foot addition is being built for Sunday school rooms.

Rev. Payne has seen his congregation grow from approximately 85 active members when he came here to 340.

Recalling his early days in the ministry, Rev. Payne said there have been a lot of changes. "In those early days most activity centered around the church. We had no trouble to get people to come to church all day Sunday. Now they think they're through after morning service," he added.

Rev. Payne missed only one Sunday last year and the year before, not even taking a vacation the past two years. But he laughingly added, "I told my congregation I'd make up for it and take three months this year."

PRIZED POSSESSION

Among Rev. Payne's prize possessions are a McGuffey reader, which he used for his scant schooling when he was five years old, and a family record of births and deaths kept by his father. The record is in a prospectus, showing samples of binding and print of Bibles, used by his father when he was a Bible salesman. The record is Rev. Payne's only birth certificate.

In addition to the celebration at the church tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Payne will be guest pastor at Central Methodist church and conduct morning worship at his own church.

His wife and three daughters will be present for the celebration beginning at 3 p. m., which will include a dinner at 5 p. m. Members and choirs of two of Rev. Payne's former churches and four other area churches have been invited to attend.
